GAME WARDEN 'HEAP BIG HUNTER'

Empire Growing Stronger, King George Tells World

LONDON, Dec. 27.—(CP)—The King, in a Christmas broadcast more personal than any he has ever delivered before, said Saturday that the British Commonwealth is getting "stronger, not weaker," by fulfilling "its ancient mission of widening the bounds of freedom wherever our people live."

Speaking from Buckingham Palace where he has been confined for more than a month by illness, the King said he was "proud to fulfill my appointed share in that mission."

The broadcast, beamed to all parts of the world, lasted 8¼ minutes.

The King said three personal experiences had marked the year for him—the birth of Prince Charles the observance of the 25th anniversary of his marriage to the Queen and his illness which he called "an unkind stroke of fate."

WELL-WISHERS

Expressing disappointment that his illness forced the cancellation of the Royal Tour of Australia and New Zealand, the King added: "Against my own disappointment . . . I can set the wave of sympathy

Petty Crime Over Holiday

Free from serious crime over the Christmas weekend, Edmonton peace officers returned to work Monday faced with numerous petty offences.

Title for meanest theif of the Christmas season goes to the person who entered the home of Mrs. L. K. Bowers, 10542 98 street and stole skates, hockey stockings and Christmas toys from beneath the Christmas tree while the family slept.

Houses of Robert Bruce McLean, 12305 91 street and Charles Reed, 12146 94 street were also entered over the weekend. Ten dollars and a watch were taken from the Reed home and $25 and a flashlight from the McLean residence. Both were entered by breaking the glass in the rear door.

Christmas for Court Gates, a Wildwood district trucker, was a sober affair. Gates had six bottles of liquor stolen from the cab of his truck Christmas Eve while it was parked on 104 avenue near 103 street. A window of the cab was forced.

Thomas J. Smith of Carbondale had a quantity of new clothing stolen from his car while it stood on a city street.

For the third time in as many weeks the Monarch Service Station, 10971 101 street, was entered by breaking boards nailed over a rear window. A check of the premises by police indicated that apparently nothing had been taken.

Room prowlers made off with $14 from the room of Harry Madolis, and $10 and a gold watch was taken from the room of William Bahryzwsky. Both are residents of local rooming houses.

Another room-prowler fled when he was caught trying to make his way through a transom to a room in a third rooming establishment.

THIEVES FIND TURKS TOO BIG

BRANTFORD, Ont., Dec. 27—(CP)—Consumers are not the only ones troubled by big turkeys. Last night someone attempted to steal two turkeys from a store here but found the birds were too big to pull through a window transom.

One Of Triplets Born To Alta. Pair Dies

BRANTFORD, Ont., Dec. 27.—(CP)—The youngest of the tiny triplets girls born Christmas day to Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Armstrong died early today. The babies, born prematurely, weighed between two and four pounds.

The 20-year-old mother, formerly Louise Clayton of Edmonton, and the two other babies were reported today by hospital authorities to be doing "as well as can be expected."

rmstrong, a factory worker here and veteran of the second world war, originally came from Camrose, Iberta.

Battle of the Negev Now in Full Swing

TEL AVIV, Dec. 27.—(BUP)—The Israeli army reported today that the battle of the Negev was in full swing, and that the fighting had spread to the central front northeast of Tel Aviv.

Col. Moshe Perlman, Israeli military spokesman, said Jewish and Egyptian ground and air forces were locked in heavy combat along the muddy, irregular front in the Negev all last night and today.

Fighting flared up on the central front, along the western side of the Arab "dangerous triangle" northeast of Tel Aviv, Perlman reported. Jewish and Iraqi troops face each other across a narrow no man's land in that sector.

Iraqi artillery shelled the Jewish settlement of Ramat Hakovesh, midway between Tel Aviv and Haifa, beginning at 5 p.m. yesterday and continuing into the night, the spokesman reported.

Reports from Jerusalem said the rumble of heavy guns had been heard there, but official confirmation of any fighting in that area was lacking.

Perlman's daily report on the military situation furnished the strongest evidence relayed by official Jewish sources since the hostilities broke out Thursday that a full-fledged campaign was being waged there.

United Nations truce observers had reported earlier, however, that the Jews were fighting hard and on a broad scale in the Negev, despite a UN order five weeks earlier for a cease fire.

"Egyptian troops still are deep in Israeli territory," Perlman said, with reference to the Negev frontier approved by the UN in the original Palestine partition decision 15 months ago.

Stowaway Found Aboard Aquitania

HALIFAX, Dec. 27.—(CP)—The liner Aquitania docked here today with 1,850 passengers, mostly British immigrants.

A stowaway, Walter Patrick Lucas, an Australian, was found aboard ship and taken into custody after the vessel arrived.

Tomorrow the liner Empress of France is expected here with a group of 50 Scottish curlers who will tour Canada and the United States.

YULE COINCIDENCE IN EDMONTON FAMILY

Coincidence stretched its long arm on Christmas day to touch an Edmonton family.

On Christmas day in 1925, Mrs. Richard MacDonald of 10811 84 avenue became the mother of a son.

On Christmas day, 1948, her daughter Mrs. Les Abrams, 11246 75 avenue, the former Daphne MacDonald gave birth to a daughter.

The Royal Alexandra hospital was the scene of both births.

Donald MacDonald, who first saw the light of day on that Yule 23 years ago is now employed by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation as a part of the staff of radio station CBX.

100 Yule Crashes Leave 7 Injured

Greatest Number Of Holiday Smashes In City History

Seven persons were injured but no lives were lost as Edmonton traffic police grappled with the greatest flood of Christmas-time accidents in history during the long holiday week-end.

Up to an early hour today traffic officers estimated more than 100 accidents had been reported since early on Christmas Eve, 35 occurring before midnight of Friday.

Eight motorists were arrested, seven on dangerous driving charges and one as drunk in charge of a car.

Drunk in charge of an auto: John Houston, 10019 81 avenue.

Mild weather, slippery streets and a carefree, festive mood were blamed for the situation.

THE INJURED:

Anne Semotiuk, 11, of 11529 95 street; bruised head and knee. Her father, Harry Semotiuk, same address, shock and bruses.

Mrs. L. J. Darknell, 12313 105 avenue, bruised right leg below knee.

Robert MacCrimmon, Fort Saskatchewan, facial cuts.

NONE SERIOUSLY HURT

None of those hospitalized was seriously injured.

Leo J. Williams, 7605 105 street, was charged with dangerous driving when his automobile collided head-on with a city trolley bus at 105 avenue and 101 street at 7:20 p.m. Friday.

Motorman Leslie Sloan, 11638 82 street, was driving the trolley bus north on 101 street.

According to police report the Williams car, travelling south, struck a parked auto before colliding with the trolley bus. No one was hurt.

Cecil Patry was taken to the Royal Alexandra hospital with shoulder injuries after an accident on the south approach to the 105 street bridge at 8:10 p.m. Friday.

The car in which Patry was a passenger was said to be operated by J. Fleming of 8821 112 street.

PINNED TO SEAT

A guard rail pierced Fleming's car, pinning Patry to the seat. A tow truck had to assist in extricating the injured man. He was taken to hospital in a Smith's ambulance.

The Semotiuk sisters were knocked down at 118 avenue and 90 street at 1:30 p.m. Saturday by a Champion Parcel Delivery truck operated by Paul Shultz of 9340 106A avenue.

The driver reported he lost control on the icy pavement swerving to the right and knocking down a light pole before striking the girls who were walking on the sidewalk. The girls were thrown to the pavement but only Anne Semotiuk was hurt badly enough to remain in hospital. The injured girls were driven to the Royal Alexandra hospital by a passing taxi driver.

CORNER COLLISION

Frank Darnell of 12313 105 avenue was driving north on 124 street when his vehicle collided with a car going east on 114 avenue.

Accident occurred at 9:05 p.m. Friday.

Mrs. L. J. Darknell, one of four riding in Darknell's car, suffered a bruised leg and Mrs. Doris Levitt, 11659, St. Albert Road, was treated for shock.

Second car was driven by Archie W. Lee, same address as the injured woman.

Leonard Allen, 13116 77 avenue, reported striking a car parked in the centre of the intersection of 109 street and 107 avenue at 11:30 p.m. Friday.

Albert Gregory, sitting in the parked car, was taken to Royal Alexandra hospital with slight injuries.

Allen reported a woman was sitting at the wheel of the stalled car when the collision occurred but was gone when he returned from taking Gregory to hospital.

MacCrimmon was injured about the face and later developed pneumonia after his car struck the rear of a street car at 97 street and 106 avenue at 11 p.m. Friday.

MacCrimmon was driving north on 97 street.

Reds Demand Dutch Halt

PARIS, Dec. 27.—(BUP)—Russia demanded today that the United Nations Security Council order the Dutch government to cease hostilities in Indonesia within 24 hours and withdraw its troops to positions held before the attack began a little more than a week ago.

The Soviet Union's move came quickly after the Dutch refused to tell the Council whether they would comply with the cease-fire order issue last Friday by the Council.

Russian delegate Jacob Malik submitted a resolution noting that "The Netherlands has not ceased action" against the Indonesian republic and calling for a cessation of hostilities within 24 hours.

Vassily Tarasenko of the Ukraine also submitted a resolution calling for immediate Dutch troop withdrawals in Indonesia.

Malik asserted that the statement made to the Council today by Dutch delegate J. H. Van Royen a "refusal to stop military action."

City Boy, Girl Twins Judged Most Unalike

Lois Elsie Veregin, 8951 84 avenue, doesn't look very much like her twin brother Raymond Michael in the opinion of the judges of the Bulletin's $200 Twin Photo Contest and as a result they were awarded first prize in the "unalike opposite sex," division of the contest.

A cheque to the amount of $25, presented by the Bulletin is being forwarded to the twins today.

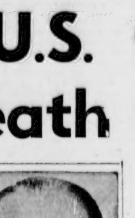
The judges, radio commentator Eve Henderson, and two medical men, Dr. Frank Law and Dr. Fred Conroy, were of the opinion that the entry of Mrs. H. McBain, 12056 92 street, was good enough to cop second prize award of $15.

Mrs. McBain submitted photographs of her six-year-old twins, Marcele and Morris, who possess a number of different features and the dual personalities are unalike in many ways, she claims.

Willene C. Riley of Forestburg, Alberta, and her twin brother, William D. Riley, 11039 90 avenue, offered little in the way of resembling each other and were only just beaten out by the McBain twins.

The contest editor would like to point out that prize winning cheques in each class of the contest are being forwarded to the person who submitted the photograph and entry form and not necessarily to the twins who are judged winners.

Winners of the "most alike, same sex," class of the contest will be announced in Tuesday's edition of the Bulletin.



SUMNER WELLES
. . . in hospital.

Sumner Welles Suffers Attack

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—(AP)—Sumner Welles, former United States under secretary of state, was found unconscious in a snow-flecked Maryland field yesterday, his fingers and toes frozen.

He remained in a serious condition today from "severe exposure and shock."

Welles apparently had lain in the field for several hours. The temperature was about 15 degrees above zero when he was found.

INSOMNIA SUFFERER

The 56-year-old former diplomat, an insomnia sufferer for years, frequently took walks late at night to help him get to sleep.

Welles regained consciousness yesterday afternoon but was unable to say what had happened, his doctor, Dr. George R. Huffman, said.

The doctor added it would be a day or two before he would know whether any of Welles' fingers or toes might have to be amputated.

Circumstances indicated that Welles left his estate at nearby Oxon Hill, Md., in the early hours of Sunday.

A son, Arnold Welles, said the family believes he suffered a heart attack while out walking. He was stricken with a heart ailment 18 years ago and has been under treatment for it since then.

Friends also reported that Welles has been deeply upset by the death in New York Dec. 20 of Laurence Dugan, a close personal friend. Dugan, a protege of Welles in the state department, was killed when he fell or jumped from his 10th floor office window.

LOYAL SERVANT

After Duggan's death it was disclosed that his name had been linked with the current investigation of Communist spy activity in the state department 10 years ago. Welles thereupon issued a statement in which he called Duggan an absolutely loyal public servant.

A 10-year-old boy, Robert Kerby, found Welles lying in the field about a mile from the Welles' home. He was returning from mass with his family.

Dr. Huffman said there was no evidence of violence. He added that the fur-collared coat which Welles wore "probably saved his life."

More U.S. Troops Asked In Europe

BERLIN, Dec. 27—(BUP)—U. S. army secretary Kenneth Royall said today that officials of Western Europe had asked for an increase of American troop strength in Europe.

Royall held a news conference after reviewing U. S. occupation troops in a ceremony at American military government headquarters. He has been on an inspection tour of U. S. installations in Europe.

Fires, Accidents Are Chief Causes

By The Canadian Press

Fires and traffic accidents helped swell the Canada-United States toll of violent deaths during the Christmas holiday week-end to 530.

Fifty-seven of this number occurred in Canada.

In addition to the 16 Canadians who lost their lives in fires, 19 died in highway mishaps, four from asphyxiation by gas fumes and the others from such causes as drowning, shooting, railway yard accidents and falls.

In the U.S., traffic deaths accounted for 286 of the total. The other 187 persons were killed in a variety of accidents.

In Botha, Alta., Kenneth Brennan of Stettler was instantly killed in a truck-car smash which sent three others to hospital on Christmas Eve.

Near Tangent in the Peace River district, 58-year-old Peter Lemoine was burned to death in his farm home on Christmas Eve.

Police took the body of Edgar Baxter of Terrace Bay, Ont., from a refrigerator car on an NAR train in Dawson Creek, B.C. Carbon fumes from a heater caused asphyxiation, RCMP stated.

A plane crash near High River, about 50 miles south of Calgary, killed Ron Schumacker, 21, and Bob Cousine, 25, both of High River.

Redfern Jones, 22, was drowned in Toronto Bay when he went through the ice while skating.

ONTARIO FATALITIES

Killed in Ontario traffic accidents were: John Coghill, 49, William Howlett and Fred Anderson, 35, in separate street accidents in the Toronto area; Charles Perrow of Woodstock and Victor Boschuk of Hamilton, both crushed when automobiles overturned; Mrs. Della Parent, 68, Penetanguishene, who stepped in front of a taxicab on her way home from Christmas mass; and Edwin Morrow, 40, Peterborough, victim of an automobile-truck collision near Peterborough.

Gerald Newton, six, and an unidentified pedestrian, were killed in separate Vancouver street accidents while similar mishaps in Victoria took the lives of Ann Goldfinch, nine, and Fremon Rutter, 74.

MONTREAL VICTIMS

Traffic victims in Montreal were George Lemieux, 38; Angelina Martin, 45 and James Armstrong, 55. Mrs. Ubald Cyr of Montreal died in a crash near Sherbrooke, Que.

A Repentigny, Que., Yvon Champagne, 15, was killed in a collision between an automobile and a parked car while at Philipsburg, Que., a baby girl was killed in a collision between two autos.

Miss H. M. Rushmere, beauty parlor operator at Okotoks, Alta., was fatally injured Christmas night when a truck in which she was rid-

150,000 Britons Leave Home in Mass Exodus

By H. L. Jones

LONDON, Dec. 27.—(CP)—In a swelling migration stream now approaching 150,000 a year, Britons are leaving their "austerity island" to seek new homes and opportunities in younger lands.

Most of them are bound for Commonwealth countries like Canada, Australia and South Africa. Most have wanted to go for a long time and only now are getting the chance with improving transport facilities. Thousands are taking advantage of assisted passages offered by countries anxious for certain types of skilled British workers.

Britain's Labor government is watching this growing exodus with mixed feelings. It is taking no steps to impede the flow, but is keeping in mind the possible effect on Britain's present all-out production effort where every skilled hand is needed.

In some cases the very workers other countries are trying to attract are the same ones Britain is most anxious to keep. A labor department spokesman said no barriers were put in the way of any Briton trying to emigrate. But should he be a key man who could not immediately be replaced, then the case probably would be "put to him as an individual."

FIGURES SWELL

Up to the end of September this year almost 120,000 persons emigrated during the year compared with about 125,000 for the whole of 1947. This included about 100,000 bound for Commonwealth countries, of which 30,000 went to Canada. Several thousand others also went to Canada on assisted air passages.

To counteract this exodus about 700 displaced persons from Europe had entered Britain between April, 1947 and the end of last October. They were picked from those who volunteered to work in Britain's undermanned industries, like the coal mines and textiles. If they had no skill, they were taught here.

In addition ordinary immigration into Britain to the end of September totalled 50,000. Board of Trade officials said they had no way of knowing how many of these people planned to stay.

The queues of those seeking to emigrate are still long. An estimated 90,000 are waiting to go to South Africa and some 30,000 to New Zealand. Australia House has a waiting list of "several thousand" and hopes to move 46,000 next year.

SAVE DOLLARS

But the queues at Canada House are not as long as they were. Main reason is the new government's action in cutting from £5,000 ($20,000) to £1,000 the amount emigrants are allowed to take to countries outside the sterling area. This will save Britain dollars but means emigrants to dollar countries may not be able to take their entire assets with them.

Every now and then a controversy breaks out in the letter sections of the press. Some would curb the advisability of leaving Britain in her hour of need. There are arguments pro and con. Typical is the "Nos" got added support from a fact-finding agency during the year.

Political and Economic Planning, an independent fact-finding organization probing Britain's population structure, says middle-aged groups were being drained through migration because mainly the young and vigorous were leaving. This could only be halted if the Dominions were prepared to accept a cross-section of age groups.

The United States counted 475 dead in one of the highest Christmas week-end death tolls in its history.

WEATHER MAJOR FACTOR

The weather was a major factor in boosting the toll. Slippery highways and fires spreading from overheated stoves caused most of the deaths, a nationwide survey by the British United Press showed.

Accidents on ice-glazed highways claimed 286 lives. Fires killed 77 persons and 110 died in miscellaneous accidents.

The traffic toll compared with 261 deaths which the National Safety Council had predicted for the period from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight last night. Subsequent deaths from fatal injuries will boost the final total even higher.

"This was at least one of the worst Christmas holiday death tolls in history," a council spokesman said. "It may be the worst, but we won't know until we check further."

He said one of the worst previous Christmas tolls was in 1946 when 213 died in traffic accidents during an evening and a day Christmas period. The total that year, including fires and miscellaneous, was 305.

and concern which flowed back to me not only from the Australians and New Zealanders I met everywhere but from friends known and unknown in this Old Country and in every one of the great brotherhood of nations to which we all belong—and . . . from many hundreds of people in foreign lands who wish : : well."

His experiences, he said, have convinced him that " an immense wealth of human kindness still survives in this modern world which sometimes seems almost starved of love and goodwill for which we especially look at Christmastide."

"More than that, they have left me with a fuller understanding of the world problems which have called upon to do. They have shown me that kingship is no isolated, impersonal function, no shadowy symbol of constitutional theory; they have shown me that it is, rather, the pole of a very real human relationship, depending on ties that are invisible, and unaffected by changes in outward form.

POWERFUL TIES

"These ties may be difficult to explain, but are none the less powerful for good."

"Our commonwealth—the British Commonwealth—has been subject to the laws of evolution—we would not have it otherwise. But it is stronger, not weaker, as it fulfills its ancient mission of widening the bounds of freedom wherever our people live and for myself I am proud to fulfill my own appointed share in that mission."

In referring to "our commonwealth—the British Commonwealth," the King restored the word "British" which had been omitted from the Throne speech opening parliament Oct. 26.

Labor Unions Hold Key to UK Future

By H. L. Jones

LONDON, Dec. 27.—(CP)—The Labor government has told the British working man that he is master of his own destiny, that whether Britain sinks or swims economically depends on him and his production in mines and factories.

The story is hammered with pamphlets, posters, radio broadcast lunchtime addresses. It is told to men inclined to be suspicious of the "boss," and to grumble about high prices, short rations and taxes that almost put beer and cigarettes out of reach.

Government spokesmen say that despite such disappointments as the failure of the coal industry to reach its 1948 production target of 211,000,000 tons, its campaign is beginning to take effect.

The labor year in Britain, which produced only one strike—a two-week tie-up of London's docks at a cost of $3,500,000—saw these developments in the production drive:

HEAVY CAMPAIGN

The Trades Union Congress, mother body of 8,000,000 British workers, began a campaig: to carry the productivity drive right to the workshop floor; open warfare was declared against Communists in the British trade union movement; labor generally relinked support of the government's wage-prices-profits stabilization policy but warned prices can't go higher.

Working with the government, the TUC, headed by 59-year-old Will Lawther, himself once a 4s. (80-cent) a day coal miner, has taken the lead to "educate" the worker on the importance of production.

Conferences are held regularly on production problems in L.dividual Industries. A TUC productivity school for shop stewards is also planned.

Lawther, once jailed for six weeks in 1925 during mine labor troubles—and in the very court-room where he later sat as a magistrate—terms unofficial strikes in Britain today "treason."

The London dock strike of last June was unofficial. It tied up 152 ships and forced the government to proclaim a state of emergency.

The strike ended before the emergency powers were put in use but later at the TUC conference at Margate, Arthur Deakin, leader of the powerful Transport and General Workers Union which includes the truckers delivered a blast against Communists.

LEAVES FEDERATION

He demanded and got a mandate to pull British trade unions from the World Federation of Trade Unions which he said had simply become a platform for "furtherance of Soviet policy." Later the TUC recommended that the WFTU suspend its functions and followed this with a statement urging British unions to purge themselves of Communists.

There was much talk at Margate about wages and prices but the stabilization policy of the government was given support. Communist-inspired resolutions were defeated as were their candidates for office.

However, the left-wing publication "Tribune" said though the Communist challenge was beaten off, it was quite clear that there is a vast reservoir of discontent still to be tapped and it would be extremely foolish for the government to assume that everything in the industrial garden is lovely.

Indonesians Fall Under Dutch Attack

BATAVIA, Dec. 27.—(BUP)—Dutch army's one-week campaign against the Indonesian republic reached the mopup stage today with Republican forces ousted from all the main cities of Java and broken into disjointed guerrilla bands.

The Indonesians themselves acknowledged the breakup of their army as a unified fighting force. They called by clandesfine radio for guerrilla warfare against the Dutch, and said isolated units already were striking at the Dutch in hit-run raids.

The Dutch high command reported that mopup operations were continuing in scattered sectors of Java. The Dutch were consolidating their positions around the former Republican capital of Jogjakarta.

The Republican radio said Indonesian guerrillas were stabbing at Dutch positions along the north coast of Java, and the Dutch were being hurried to East Java.

FALL BACK

The radio said the Indonesians attacked the rail town of Djhibarang, 87 miles east of Batavia, for five hours on Christmas Day, but finally were forced to fall back when Dutch reinforcements arrived.

At The Hague, the Dutch government announced that a "number of Republican authorities" arrested by the Dutch in Java will be removed from that island.

(Reliable reports from Batavia said that the Republican leaders already have been taken from Jogjakarta, former Republican capital now in Dutch hands, to an isolated location on one of the small outer islands of the East Indies).

The United Nations Security Council demanded Friday in issuing a cease-fire order which the Dutch have disregarded that the captured Republican officials be released.

Bishop Norman Tubbs, a member of the cathedral chapter said: "Mr. Boyle has been given 12 months" notice. This decision was made last March so that he would have ample opportunity to get another position."

THOUSANDS TRAVELLING

Yule Celebration Still Underway in Canada

By The Canadian Press

In most Canadian centres the Christmas holiday continued today with celebration of Boxing Day. Eastern Canadians being cheered by forecasts of milder weather after the Christmas cold snap.

The homeward trek of thousands by road, rail and airways was expected to hit its peak tonight as Canadians looked back on a Christmas replete with turkey and all the trimmings, probably more varied gifts than since before the war, celebrations of all kinds from coast to coast.

The holiday toll of accidental deaths left a grim note of more than 55 dead including 16 fire victims.

The holiday started in many homes with the King's Christmas broadcast from London. Later churches were thronged for services of all denominations.

Today, the Boxing Day holiday is being more widely observed than ever before in Canada. It is a civic holiday in Halifax and most other Nova Scotia centres, and a provincial holiday in Western Canada and Prince Edward Island. Boxing Day is also a holiday in Saint John, Fredericton and Moncton, and in many Ontario cities.

Temperatures slightly below zero were recorded yesterday in a wide belt from Jasper, Alta., to Montreal, with Ottawa reaching a low of 11 under zero, North Bay 25 below. Regina seven below, and Dawson in the Yukon 13 below. Scattered snow flurries were promised with milder weather today."

Holiday celebrants in Quebec were kept in check by rigid enforcement of the 11 p.m. curfew on clubs and taverns Christmas Eve. Reinforced police squads in Toronto kept strict watch on careless drivers, and altogether 29 persons had been arrested by last night on charges of drunk or careless driving. Altogether police seized 89 motor cars in the Ontario capital.

Britain's Cultural Flair Leads Musical World

By Shaun McQuillan

LONDON, Dec. 27.—(CP)—An unprecedented public appreciation of the arts in Britain during 1948 led some people to speak of "a cultural rebirth."

Picture galleries and the concert stage are beginning to vie in popularity with the movies, sport arenas and the community music halls, impresarios say. Attendance at music and drama festivals and art exhibitions now is counted in hundreds of thousands instead of tens of thousands. Box office returns require less red ink.

In London alone music-lovers can attend 50 symphony concerts a month. Popular classics by Beethoven, Tschaikovsky, Mozart and Brahms nowadays are nearly always popular successes, although audiences are smaller when unusual works and contemporary composers are billed.

Almost any art exhibition draws spectators in thousands. Contemporary artists, both in sculpture and painting, enjoy audiences as great and sometimes greater than old masters, though sometimes curiosity is the main attraction.

STILL POPULAR

Gilbert and Sullivan light operas still draw crowds of pre-war magnitude. Opera audiences with stronger tastes seem to approve contemporary Benjamin Britten's "Peter Grimes" and the "Rape of Lucretia" as much as they do Mozart's classic "Cosi Fan Tutte" and Puccini's "La Boheme."

There appears, at last, a chance to establish opera on firm and permanent ground in Britain. Subsidies are being paid and show signs of swelling. Sadler's Wells received £35,000 ($140,000) from the Arts Council this year and the Royal Opera at Convent Garden received £90,000 last season. These compare with £200,000 paid before the war to Berlin State Opera and the £600,000 now paid to the Paris Opera and the Opera Comique.

In its second year the Edinburgh Festival of Music and Drama has been said to compare with Austria's famous pre-war Salzburg Festival, and its sponsors say it is here to stay. More than 250,000 attended performances last August and September. In addition, 200,000 went to the festival's associated art and craft exhibitions, and Scottish piping and dancing displays.

WORLD CENTRE

One night alone saw an opera, a ballet, a play and a symphony concert produced. Sir Malcom Sargent, a leading British conductor, said the festival was the "artistatic centre of the world" during its three weeks. Other annual events like the Shakespearian season at Stratford-on-Avon and the Bath festival of music and drama, a miniature Edinburgh festival, reported favorable attendances.

The year has not been without its friction. There was resentment among some British artists about foreign soloists and orchestras who have been "imported" for concert tours on the ground that British musicians are displaced from potential assignments. Consequently a series of concerts planned by pianist Arthur Schnabel was curtailed. The Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra under conductor Kurt Furtwangler enjoyed a successful tour.

Coal Output Is Increased

Alberta coal mines produced 190,039 tons more coal in November of this year than for the corresponding month last year.

Monthly report on coal production issued by John Crawford, chief inspector of mines in the provincial department of lands and mines, shows a decrease in production for the 11 months of the year ending Nov. 30 of 56,980 tons.

Coal production early in the year was lowered by labor troubles.

Total production for November this year was 978,019 tons and a year ago was 787,999 tons.

Bethlehem's Yule Strange Contrast

Moslem Guns Watch Over Scene Of the Nativity

BETHLEHEM, Dec. 27.—(AP) — This year's traditional Christmas ceremony in Bethlehem, where Christ was born, ended Saturday in a strange atmosphere of war and peace.

Inside the hallowed church of the nativity devout Christians prayed for peace. In the adjoining chapels, arab troops moved about with rifles on their shoulders.

SMALL PILGRIMAGE

The colorful Christmas eve pilgrimage from Jerusalem to Bethlehem was the smallest in many generations. At midnight, when the service began, probably no more than 200 Christians were inside the church.

In other years the pilgrims set out from Jerusalem's old walled city and travelled six miles to Bethlehem over the winding road used by Mary and Joseph. This year war created a detour and made the distance twice as great.

Special passes were required for those who joined the procession. One pass was issued by the army of Israel, the other by Trans-Jordan's Arab Legion. The route took the pilgrims through the front lines of armies which, in that sector, have still kept the truce.

In Bethlehem, Arab tanks mounted a grim guard in Manger Square. Soldiers of Egypt, Iraq and Trans-Jordan had their guns at the ready because Jewish lines were less than four miles away.

QUIETEST IN YEARS

It all added up to the quietest Christmas in years for Bethlehem. Gone was the light-hearted gayety that in other years was mixed with devoutness.

American, French and Belgian truce observers were here on a United Nations assignment to restore peace to this strife-torn land, and with mixed Arab troops on guard, Christendom's greatest event was commemorated under the protecting guns of a Moslem King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan. For the first time, no Jews made the pilgrimage.

In side the church, heavily scented with incense, were colorfully-dressed soldiers, civilians and clerics. Among them were yellow-turbaned Sudanese and Arab warriors in their flowing red and white headdresses. There were women descendants of the Crusaders in their starched white conical hats, and diplomats in formal dress. Scattered among the worshippers were peasants and scholars, correspondents and priests.

Outside the town was dark for Bethlehem was without electricity this Christmas. The basilica of the church was lit by candles, but the Arab legion provided power from its own small generating plant to give light to the Church of St. Catherine's which adjoins the Church of the Nativity. The legion also saw to it that a light hung over the Holy Grotto where the image of the Christ-child was placed in the manger.

But through all the tenseness of dormant war and shaky peace Arabs and Jews alike waved to the pilgrims as they passed and shouted to them: "Merry Christmas."

City Man On Air Lift Duty Over Christmas

LONDON, Dec. 27.—(CP)—At least 15 Canadians were among the RAF and United States Air Force personnel flying planes in the Berlin air lift during Christmas.

These former RCAF pilots who have since volunteered for the RAF are in one sense the unfortunate few who are unable to get leave to spend Christmas with their families or friends in Britain. On the other hand, the festive season was fully observed at Wunsdorf air base near Hanover, where most of the Canadians are based.

Some of the single men said they would rather spend Christmas this way but for married men like Flt. Lt. Clifton Wenzel of Edmonton Christmas duty was something of a disappointment. Wenzel had planned to spend the holiday with his wife Grace—also from Edmonton—at Abingdon, Berkshire.

"It's tough, all right," said Wenzel just before he took off to return to Wunsdorf after a pre-Christmas leave, "but obviously we can't all be off at the same time."

"We've taken on a round-the-clock job and must see it through."

Wenzel captains one of the York aircraft flying cargoes of up to 7½ tons of coal, flour, meat or butter.

Working with him through the holiday was his brother Norman, a navigator. Both had long service with the RCAF during the war.

Other Canadians serving on the air lift through Christmas were Flt. Lts. Jack Catley, London, Ont., Jack Marvin, Montreal, Mark Tapp, Toronto, Bill Thurston, Winnipeg, Marcel Elie, Montreal.

Two Routes Necessary

Ottawa's insistence upon the development of only one route for the Trans-Canada Highway through the West has thrown another monkey wrench into the negotiations towards an early construction of this road.

For certainly the proponents of the Yellowhead route are no more likely to relinquish their contentions than those who favor a southerly road across Alberta and British Columbia.

Of the two alternative routes, the Yellowhead has equal if not superior claims to attention.

There are two chief arguments for the completion of the Trans-Canada Highway:

The first is that such a highway will mean millions of dollars to this country in an increased tourist influx from the United States.

The second is that such a highway is essential to inter-provincial transport and hence an important factor in Canadian unity.

So far as the second argument is concerned, the Yellowhead route will serve just as many people as the alternative southerly route.

And the dual route is made all the more necessary by the sparseness of north-south roads. In short, if the southerly route were chosen exclusively, the people along the Yellowhead route would be almost entirely excluded from it.

So far as the tourist aspects are concerned, a double route in the West would constitute a tourist loop that would appreciably extend the stay of the American tourist in Canada.

On an exclusively southern route, the visitor from the United States would pass through Hope and Princeton, conclude his trip in Vancouver and turn back into his own country.

With a double route, the tourist would return through the Fraser Canyon and the Big Bend.

The federal government does not appear to be going into this matter with due regard to the greatest good for the greatest number.

And the claims of the Yellowhead route cannot be ignored.

No Place for Biting Dogs

The case of the seven-year-old Edmonton boy who was mauled and bitten by one of a pack of dogs while he was returning home from school should bring to a head the many complaints that have been made about wandering dogs in this city.

We are not sympathetic with the view that a city is no place for dogs at all.

There is no reason why city children should be denied the companionship of their pets.

But there is every reason why vigorous steps should be taken when owners are so indifferent to their dogs as to let them wander about and become a menace to the community.

The half-wild dog that roams around on the loose affords no pleasure to anybody and probably very little to himself.

It would probably be overly drastic to insist that all city dogs be chained up in a kennel or in their own back yard.

But dogs can be trained to behave properly and to stay pretty close to home without becoming a nuisance in neighbors' flowerbeds and making the nights wretched with their barking.

If an owner cares enough about a dog he will train him. If he doesn't care enough about him to give him that training, he has no business to own a dog.

International Law Menaced

Even though the major war criminals of Japan have gone to the gallows a legal agitation still persists in the United States to have the U.S. supreme court declare its power to overrule international tribunals.

It will be recalled that when seven of these Japanese war criminals, including former Premier Tojo, were convicted in Tokyo by an international court, including judges from Australia and other countries as well as from the United States, an appeal was launched in behalf of four of them with the American supreme court.

With great wisdom, that highest judicial body in the United States decided that it had no authority over such international tribunals and therefore could not entertain the appeal.

Now, even though the sentence of the international court has been carried out, some of the lawyers engaged in the appeal desire the United States supreme court to reconsider its verdict, not with the view to purpose of restoring life to the Japanese appellants, but with the purpose of evoking a judgment that the decisions of the supreme court take precedence over decisions of international tribunals.

It is difficult to believe that this attempt is anything more than mischievous.

For certainly international law and international justice would receive a terrific slap in the face if the highest court in any country attempted to set itself up above the courts established by a group of nations in the field of international offences.

Such a ruling would mean that any national convicted of international crime by an international court would only have to appeal to the highest court of his own country to win freedom and acquittal.

For if the priority essential to this anomaly were claimed by the United States, it would also have to be accorded to every other sovereign state.

Such a situation would mean the end of efficient enforcement of international law.

One Little Word Made Millionaire Of Henry Pludge

SCOTT

The brain-storm that blew Henry Pludge into a cool ninety million dollars and the title "Meat King of the World," took place on Friday at approximately 8.30 a.m. as he rode the bus into work.

Jogging along in the freshly-shaved misery known to all morning commuters, Henry had been idly thinking of the conversation of his wife, Sybil, and her neighbor, Cora, on the previous evening.

They had been discussing the short and snappy brand names of various products—Dreft, Dur-Fab, Spam, Spork, Tide and the rest.

He had observed that these simple, positive little words—repeated hour upon hour from the mouth of the radio—had a curious, mesmerizing effect on the female mind. It was obvious that a soap flake or a pressed meat, by any other name, would not smell nearly as sweet as one with a short, emphatic sock to it.

Bouncing along with his eyes sightless on the passing city, Henry amused himself by coining names for products—"Ouch" for a sunburn lotion; "Woof" for a dog food; "Pew" for a deodorant. He often played such idle mental games with himself, a occupation that caused Sybil to confide to her cronies that Henry was "moody."

Then it came to him! Henry half rose from his seat, uttering a cry of delight. He composed himself immediately, under the dull, hostile gaze of his fellow passengers, but there was a wild and triumphant light in his pale blue orbs. For Henry had hit upon a brand name that was clearly worth its weight in uranium.

It was simple, it was sincere, it was urgent, it was everything that a trade name should be. It was the one magic word "GOOD."

To The Top

Afterwards, in the meat world, they talked of Henry Pludge's rise with understandable awe. From the time it hit the market "GOOD," the canned meat loaf, was a sensation.

As any analysis would show, it contained a high content of minced gristle, hooves and knuckle and precious little meat. Indeed, it was reliably reported (in the December issue of Fortune, for example) that Pludge was making a profit of 24 cents on the 29-cent can.

But the nation's housewives were enamored of the name and it bombarded it there from all sides. Even small children yapped the familiar slogans, "It's GOOD, For You," and "You Never Had It—So GOOD!"

Pludge's firm grew from one tiny plant to a great chain of factories, complete with interlocking directorships. Each Saturday morning the Metropolitan Opera broadcasts, sponsored by Pludge Inc., opened their performance with the entire company singing "It's a GOOD Day."

Greta Garbo gave her first testimonial. "I like it," she said, "because it's just plain GOOD." A 140-foot revolving, illuminated sign in Times Square proclaimed "Good The World Over." Gabriel Heatter opened his nightly radio commentary with the vibrant words, "There's GOOD news tonight, folks!"

In less than a year Pludge Inc. had gobbled up Swift & Co. and the Armour meat-packing dynasty and was said to be in control of Standard Oil. Pludge's cattle grazed on ninety-seven million acres of Argentina, he owned nine-tenths of the sheep in Australia and every horse in Arabia.

Henry's chain of newspapers carried a flaming, crusading lance in the interests of free enterprise and the Marshall Plan, which was introducing GOOD in enormous quantities to the war-torn countries of Europe.

Come Crash

Throughout his ascendancy to royalty in the meat world Henry remained the simple, unaffected person he had always been. It is true that he installed in a few understandable luxuries—sleeping under ermine quilts in his 76-room knotty pine lodge, for example—but it was really the same old Henry.

Thus, when the crash came, he was able to accept it with good grace. This event had occurred shortly after Henry divorced Sybil and married Wanda La-Toole, the MGM starlet popularly known as "The Boi-ining Girl." They were at sea aboard the Queen Elizabeth, which Henry had chartered for a world cruise, when the news began to come over the wireless.

GOOD's sales had slumped to almost nothing. Inside of a week the product had become a drug on the market. Groceries in 47 nations complained that they couldn't give the stuff away.

It wasn't long before Henry knew what had happened and knew that he was finished. An obscure meat-packer had put a new product on the market that had taken the nation by storm. Henry knew that he was through the moment he heard the brand's name. Spork, who could be better than "BETTER."

★ ★ ★

. . . Henry felt himself being rudely shaken. He looked up into the amused face of the bus driver. "End of the line, Mac." The man was saying. "Better get your mittens and climb off." Henry smiled weakly, rose and made his way through the empty bus. "I must really stop this daydreaming," he thought to himself.

Letters to the Editor

Merely Fascism

Editor, Bulletin — Communism is only another name for fascism. The small Communist party in Russia, is the new upper class of that country. It is made up of all the officers in the Russian Navy and Army, and all the officials in the mines and factories and in every government department from Leningrad to Vladivostok. They draw big, handsome salaries, live in big houses and mansions with every luxury and comfort; and they rent hundreds of acres of beautiful land. The Soviet leaders in the Kremlin, are very good in handing out smoke screens and camouflage. The workers and peasants in Soviet Russia have got a very low standard of living. In the days of the Czarist Government the workers could leave Russia at any time, but under Communist rule there is no liberty or freedom.

Rule Of Majority

Editor, Bulletin—In The Bulletin of Dec. 13 you have an editorial under the heading "Vishinsky and the Lady's Tongue", in which you say, quote, "Mrs Roosevelt cut sharply across the frills of international convention to inform Mr. Vishinsky that a civilized world it is necessary to bow to the will of the majority. Seldom has democracy's case against Russia been boiled down in a neater phrase."

Although holding no brief against frank speech regarding the rulers of Russia, I am surprised at the concept of democracy exposed in this instance by the writer of the editorial. In her statement Mrs. Roosevelt no doubt implied that democracy means majority rule.

Any such definition provides a distortion under which all minority groups may be deprived of any rights they may have, whether it be free speech, worship, or ownership of property, whenever the claim can be raised loudly that these things are not in line with the wishes of the majority.

The great Protestant minister, Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdick, has put the matter very nicely when he has said: "Ballot box democracy is not all clear gain. For one thing, its method of reaching decisions by voting creates the impression that the majority is right. . . . The fact is that in any realm where judgment calls for spiritual fineness, only the minority, who are above the average, are ever right. And because a man is always tempted to live down to the average of his social group, a searching test of character is involved in one's relationship with this dead level of public opinion and practice. . . ."

So famous has Mrs. Roosevelt become that sayings of hers like that quoted at the first of this letter have come to be called "Eleanorisms." This explanation of democracy to Mr. Vishinsky is another "Eleanorism," and Mr. Vishinsky perhaps knows better than Mrs. Roosevelt what it eventually means.

Against Royalty

Editor, Bulletin—Quite a lot of begging has been going on lately for the purchase of food for the poor of Britain. Are we to pay for the keep of the poor over there while others live in luxury. I recently had a letter from my sister who says that the country is up in arms over the waste of money by the present government, thousands of dollars can be thrown into the laps of the Royal Family but none to feed the poor; no wonder some of the people are beginning to "see red."

I sometimes wonder when will the people of Britain wake up. Why should kings, princes, dukes and the rest be kept in luxury? Are they a necessity?

I think we have lots to do with our money over here, and it is here we should keep it.

Europe's Children

Editor, Bulletin.—During my recent speaking tour through the prairie provinces and British Columbia, I once more convinced myself of the great readiness of Canadians to help children overseas. Due to the increased cost of living, however, the average citizen can no longer give as generously as he did a year ago. Therefore I feel certain that many would like to donate $1.00 as a gift if they knew that it will enable the Unitarian Service Committee of Canada to ship, on their behalf, two pounds of whole powdered milk to some needy youngster overseas.

During the last 3½ years, the Unitarian Service Committee of Canada, a voluntary relief organization, has done its best to alleviate the suffering of child victims in Europe. Under Government quotas, it has collected, purchased and distributed over 450,000 pounds of concentrated food, medical supplies, and used and new clothing, to be distributed overseas by its own field workers to those in need, without any discrimination of nationality, creed, or religious affiliation.

If everyone who reads this letter took the trouble of sending $1.00 at once to the Unitarian Service Committee of Canada, 48 Sparks Street, Ottawa, a large sum could be raised within a week and a full shipment of white powdered milk be rushed to Unitarian Service Committee children's homes. The children in France, Austria, and Czechoslovakia, will be grateful to Canada for their gift.

Director for Canada,

Looking Backward

1888—60 Years Ago

Since railway construction was completed in the North West, the country has been hampered by the ease with which speculations are able to prejudice ordered progress. The cry is now going up that a halt must be called to this state of affairs, and government action is demanded.

1898—50 Years Ago

An adverse report on the railroad to the Bay was given by James Fisher, MPP, special commissioner of the Manitoba government, who accompanied the Dominion government expedition to Hudson Bay.

A letter has been received from J. Russell who left Edmonton last season with the Klondyke rush and is now wintering on the Lalid.

1908—40 Years Ago

Sydney, Australia. — Negro heavyweight Jack Johnson won the world's championship by defeating Tommy Burns.

Chief Davidson of the fire department left on a visit to his old hometown of Sherbrooke, Que.

Strathcona defeated Edmonton 6-1 in the annual Christmas week hockey game.

1918—30 Years Ago

Paris—Spain offered to concede Spanish Morocco to France for one billion francs.

London.—Admiral Jellicoe will visit the dominions to advise them on naval matters.

1928—20 Years Ago

According to reports reaching provincial police, it will be a dry Christmas in Alberta. Record of violence shows a man and woman murdered, another man stabbed so seriously he is expected to die; another fatally wounded by gunfire, while one of the alleged murderers committed suicide.

The Salvation Army high council will have to deal with an attempt to depose Gen. Booth, who, because of his illness, is unable to discharge his duties as usual.

1938—10 Years Ago

Excessive holiday traffic, unusually heavy snow and swirling flakes in airing vision, combined Christmas Eve to boost the Edmonton accident total to scores.

In the past 80 hours, the temperature dropped from 46 above to 38 below at 9.00 a.m. this morning. In the same period, over 17 inches of snow fell on the city.

JEWISH STATE ADVANCES

By Kenneth Bilby

Six Months of Achievement in Israel

TEL AVIV.—Israel has just rounded out its first half-year of statehood with a victorious war behind it and with a formidable program of agricultural resettlement as its next goal.

The government and people of Israel feel, with much justification, that the war has been decided, almost imperceptibly as the state's main effort is shifting today from battle to internal development. The Negeb and Galilee already have become the scene of a far-reaching resettlement program.

Already trucks loaded with building material are flowing south. For the first time since May 14 the neglected Negeb desert region is beginning to sprout new colonies. Within the next six months scores of settlements will dot the desert land, some much farther south than the present outposts around Bir Asluj, sixteen miles below Beersheba.

The Israeli 75,000-man army has not begun to demobilize because two unbroken Arab armies—those of Iraq and Trans-Jordan—still pose a potential threat to Israeli borders. There may be more battle flurries but the possibility of destroying the new state has been removed, is the opinion of Israeli leaders.

Vital Changes

Best indication of the new trend in a government shift which has occurred this recent days. Levi Eshkol (formerly Skolnik), Assistant Defence Minister, who was one of Premier David Ben-Gurion's military stalwarts, has been shifted to the Jewish Agency Executive, where he will assume complete control of the agricultural resettlement program.

Mr. Eshkol is a military man with a long experience in the kibbutzim, or settlements. The fact that Mr. Ben-Gurion has released him, plus other lesser officials, provides the best assessment of the urgency with which the government views land development.

Berl Locker, chairman of the Agency Executive, estimated that $200,000,000 in agency funds will be required in the coming year to keep the settlement program going and to create new industries, with their attendant job opportunities for tens of thousands of immigrants. It also will be necessary to restore a proper balance to Israel's economy.

"Most of our experts tell us," Mr. Locker said, "that we must have 20 to 25 per cent of our population in agricultural pursuits to obtain a balanced economy. We have about 15 per cent now, so there must be a shift toward the land."

In any review of the state's achievements in the first six months, the army's role must be predominant. It grew with astonishing speed. It organized virtually overnight, and it fought far better than most people had suspected it would. It has become a military power to be reckoned with in any assessment of Middle Eastern affairs.

Though less publicized and less spectacular, some solid gains have been registered internally by the state. In the words of acting United Nations Mediator Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, it has become a "vibrant reality."

The government itself is developing along Western lines. The judicial system with magistrate courts, district courts and a seven-man supreme court in Jerusalem, is well established. The Cabinet of thirteen ministers is governing under the watchful eye of the thirty-seven-member State Council.

A police force of 2,000 men has been formed out of the remnants of the mandatory force. A total of 1,300 new policemen have been trained and placed on duty.

The government has set up a civil service, with 5,000 employes, excluding the police and public school teachers. The civil service commission is studying the problems of gradings and salaries and is attempting to weed out incompetent and corrupt employes inherited from the mandate era.

Stable Money

The Finance Minister has stabilized the value of the new Israeli pound, of which 24,000,000 have been placed in circulation. The first coins, with a provisional design, are nearly ready for issue. Income taxes have been collected at the rate of $60,000,000 annually. The mandatory government collected only $28,000,000 more from the entire Arab and Jewish population of Palestine.

Air and telegraphic communications have been established with all major countries. A 2,000-kilometre (1,240-mile) road network has been given much neglected maintenance and repair work on a regular schedule. The crowning achievement in this respect has been the construction of a new two-way paved highway 60 kilometres (37 miles) long, which links Israel to Jerusalem through a corridor in Arab Palestine.

The first railroad line under government ownership has started operating between Hadera and the Lebanese border. Spur lines are planned south into Tel Aviv, skirting the Arab triangle and service is expected to be resumed before long between Tel Aviv and Jerusalem. The Israeli National Airways has been founded and DC-4 planes soon will begin service between Israel and Europe.

There has been a concerted effort to integrate from 50,000 to 70,000 Moslems into Israeli life. Labor exchanges have been set up for Arab workers and Arab officials are on the government pay roll. There is an Arab magistrate in Nazareth and an Arab town council member in Haifa.

Cost Of Living

Despite its solid [illegible]ument, the new state is by no means perfect and some of its worst enemies are those visitors who proclaim to the world that it is a flawless creation. It is no such thing and responsible government officials frankly admit it.

The cost of living, for example, has not been effectively controlled. Prices are out of proportion to wages and a black market has established itself in certain lines. The plight of some salaried government officials is desperate.

In the aftermath of the brutal assassination of Count Folke Bernadotte, the late UN mediator, terrorism has been temporarily squelched. But the most sanguine Israeli does not believe it has been eradicated for good. The mere fact that a nation-wide manhunt in a state as small as Israel has failed to ans·rth the assassins is evidence that terrorists' sympathizers still exist.

Perhaps the acid test of Israel's durability will come after the peace settlement and after the first national elections, now scheduled to take place between Jan. 7 and Jan. 14. The conduct of elections without supervision or interference will provide a searching spotlight on the depth of democratic roots in Israel.

When the election law has been adopted the State Council will vote itself out of existence. It will be supplanted by a Constitution Assembly, which will adopt a constitution and which, in turn will be superseded by a permanent Parliament. Because this parliament will be a gauge of Israel's democracy, the government is determined that it will not be an exact duplicate of any in existence.

"We will attempt to incorporate the best features of every democratic legislative body in the world," one official explained.

An encouraging augur of Israeli feelings is that section of the election law adopted this week by the State Council, to extend the franchise to every Christian, Moslem and Jew residing within territory held by Israeli arms. There is only one requirement for the vote—a declared intention to become a citizen of the new state.

From Today's News

By Dewitt Mackenzie

Log the blame for the current Indonesian republic upheaval against The Netherlands, or assess it against the republic, and you still haven't covered the ground.

The fact is that the world is paying for the failure (or perhaps one should say inability) of the United Nations to setup an international police force to handle such situations. Thus far the UN has been simply a sounding-board for heated arguments pro and con regarding peace violations.

The Indonesian trouble is particularly unfortunate. The republic is part of an archipelago of 3,000 islands, a population of 75,000,000. This huge group lies in the heart of one of the last-ditch strands of imperial rule.

There is the greatest sort of danger that out of such quarrels as the Indonesian affair there might grow an Asiatic bloc which would be hostile to the Western world.

Mighty India, for instance, is siding with the Indonesian republic against the Netherlands. And it is only a few days ago that the president of the All-India congress, Dr. Pattabhi Sitaramayya, declared:

"The process of eliminating imperialism from Asia cannot be stopped and must go on. Every foreign power that holds dominion in Asia must depart."

"Every foreign power" means not only the Netherlands, but France and Britain. Jawaharlal Nehru, Prime Minister of India and her most powerful political leader, took a similar stand long before his country gained its independence from England.

Nehru has urged Asiatic unity, "not for aggression against Europe or the West, but for the freedom of every country in Asia."

The danger to the western world doesn't rest in anti-imperialism. The days of empires are numbered. The majority of nations recognize the right of self-determination for all peoples.

What the West has to guard against is the continuance of a situation which might produce the horror of a war between East and West. The position is made much more critical by the fact that Communism is taking advantage of the unrest in the Orient.

"Why did you get a divorce?"
"My wife called me 'idiot'!"
"That's not sufficient cause for a divorce."
"Well, you see, it was like this. I came home and found my wife in the arms of the chauffeur and I said, 'What's the meaning of this?' and she said, 'Can't you see you idiot?'"

Trivia

After you went away
Silence came;
It filled the four walls of the listening room,
It filled the home
Silkily rustling on the hearth that glows
First orange and then rose.
After you went away
Silence came.
I move, I breathe, I sigh, I say your name—
In the white muffling silence it is drowned,
Lost, never to be found.
If ever you return
Still may there shine
Light of the frozen flame
On golden wine
And painted dishes on a table spread
With yet-unbroken bread.
Here shall you find me
Still with tinted lips
And curled hair
And colored fingertips—
As if I had not died here long ago
Smothered in silence cold and soft as snow.

Canada Attained World Power Rank in 1948

By Clyde Blackburn

OTTAWA, Dec. 27.—(CP)—Canada is just completing a full year as a member of the United Nations Security Council charged with the primary responsibility for keeping the world's peace.

When the council reconvenes in New York early in January the Canadian delegate will start his second monthly term as chairman.

Whether the council succeeds or fails in its vital task, Canada and the other 10 member countries must take the credit or blame.

The Canadian membership is for a two-year term, expiring at the end of 1949. Thus Canada, for the first time, is playing a full share in the surge of events which draw her interest and responsibility to remote spots of the world.

General A. G. L. McNaughton, Canadian permanent delegate on the council, was chairman early this year when its good offices succeeded, in the minds of many, in preventing what might have been an all-out civil war in India.

INDIA-PAKISTAN

His handling of the India-Pakistan troubles, as chairman last February and as a member of the council, helped create the atmosphere in the United Nations which many believe aided the leaders of the two new dominions in restraining their more ardent followers who wanted war.

Later Canada's voice was heard with effect in the council's mediation efforts in fur-off Indonesia where, a few years ago, a local uprising would have been no more than a small newspaper headline to most Canadians.

L. B. Pearson, minister of external affairs, was the chairman of the special committee on Palestine in 1947 and, as Canada's delegate to the General Assembly, has spoken clearly and firmly in the long debates this year which have sought the twin objectives of preventing war between the Jews and Arabs and in settlement of the boundary quarrels.

DISARMAMENT PROPOSALS

From the beginning the Canadian delegation has given leadership in disarmament proposals and Canada has, perhaps to her ultimate sorrow, gone much further than the Russian disarmament proposal seeks to bring about.

Canada, along with the western powers, has pressed for safeguards which would ensure that by their disarming they will not lay themselves open to another power which does not play the game.

Similarly, in the atomic energy committee of which Canada is a member, this country has strictly maintained the attitude that atomic warfare should be outlawed but that all countries must submit to international inspection to ensure they are adhering to the agreement.

ALL COMMITTEES

Canada is a member of all 10 specialized agencies of the United Nations. Her membership on the 18-country economic and social council ended this year and re-election was not sought.

It is now obvious to all the world that the United Nations is balked in its primary aims by the determination of Russia to play only in her own terms, and the power Russia has, as one of the Big Five, to veto major decisions.

DISTRICT NEWS IN BRIEF

Consort Pushes North-Side Road

CONSORT, Dec. 27.—Highways were the main topic of discussion at the December meeting of the Consort Board of Trade which was presided over by president N. Kroeger. A rough map was shown representing a north-south provincial highway connecting all towns between Elk Point and Medicine Hat in the nearest direct line.

The Consort Board of Trade is interested in this highway being considered, not only because it would benefit Consort but also because it would benefit all of east central Alberta. As a preliminary step it was decided to contact the boards of trade or other organizations in all the centr which this road would link up, in an effort to get their feelings regarding this.

The second highway point brought up dealt with the completion of No. 12 highway from Monitor, nine miles east of Consort, to the Saskatchewan boundary. The meeting felt that this was urgently needed and that the Board of Trade should give this all the support it could. G. Lambert, superintendent of the Neutral Hills School Division, said the Division was deeply interested in this project as it would enable them to greatly expand its services. Mr. Lambert was asked to work with the road committee of the Board of Trade as a special representative of the school division and G. Fawcett was asked to act as a representative of the hospital board. Letters are to be sent to Hon. D. B. McMillan, Minister of Public Works and Hon. C. E. Gerhart, the local member, asking the possibility of having this work done in 1949. A meeting was suggested to be held in the future to which Mr. McMillan and Mr. Gerhart would be invited and a brief showing the urgency and necessity of finishing this highway would be presented to them.

The provisional board of the Consort Storage Company gave a brief report stating that the company has now been incorporated and is organizing to sell shares.

Mayor Isaman suggested having lighted Christmas trees placed at the base of all street lights on the main block of Consort's business section for the Christmas season.

PRINCE CHARLIE TOPS

'48 Saw Many Famous Babies Enter World

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—(AP)—The page one baby story of 1948 was the birth of Prince Charles, who may one day rule the British Commonwealth.

The first child of Princess Elizabeth, heiress presumptive, and Prince Philip of Edinburgh was born Nov. 14.

Both Prime Minister Attlee of Britain and his predecessor, Winston Churchill, became grandfathers during the year—the latter for the fifth time.

A first child, a daughter, was born to Janet Helen Attlee Shipton and Harold William Shipton. Mary Churchill Soames, wife of Capt. Christopher Soames, gave birth to their first child, a son.

Marshall Tito of Yugoslavia and Gen. Charles De Gaulle, wartime leader of the Fighting French, became grandfathers too.

There are newcomers bearing the golden names of Rockefeller, Vanderbilt and Ford.

The marriage in February of Winthrop Rockefeller and "Bobo" Paul Sears, pretty blonde daughter of immigrant parents, was the romantic heart throb of the year. Their son arrived in time for Christmas.

A daughter was born to Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, wealthy turfman, and his second wife, Jeanne Lourdes Murray Vanderbilt.

A girl was born to William Clay Ford and Martha Firestone Ford, grand-daughter of tire-maker Harvey Firestone.

A fourth child, also a daughter, was born to Joan Bennett, 38. The girl is the second child of her marriage to Walter Wanger, producer.

A third child, a daughter too, was born to Veronica Lake, 29. The baby is the second child of her marriage to Andre Deloth, 35, director.

A second child was born to Betty Hutton and her husband, Theodore Briskin, Chicago camera-maker.

Parents for the first time—with daughters born during the year—were film stars Deborah Kerr, James Mason and Joan Fontaine.

Jasper Art Class Sponsors Display Of Paintings

JASPER, Dec. 27. — Miss Jane Middleton, of the Extension department, University of British Columbia, presented an exhibition of her own paintings in Jasper on Dec. 11.

Strikingly beautiful in color and design, Miss Middleton's pictures reflect a happy outlook on Nature and a highly artistic sense of color value.

Landscapes of the Okanagan and Lake Wabamun were particularly fine and "Along the Big Bend Highway" is noteworthy for the delicate treatment of color—a truly lovely winter scene.

This art display was sponsored by the art class of Jasper Home and School Association.

Ponoka-Mercurys In Arena Battle

Rosters Glitter with Ex-WCHL Players for Tonight's Game

Waterloo Mercurys, league pacesetters, and coach Roy Jardine's Ponoka Stampeders, clash at the Arena Monday night in a Northern Alberta Intermediate loop struggle that should provide Edmonton hockey followers with a nifty Boxing Day puck attraction.

JOHNNY KENNEDY
. . . Returns to arena.

DON STANLEY
. . . Plays tonight.

The action is timed for 8.30 o'clock.

There are several things that 'sell' tonight's contest. First off both teams boast line-ups liberally sprinkled with puck wranglers who either have played Western Canada league hockey or aren't far off the pace.

KENNEDY RETURNS

Mercurys can point to Don Stanley, Ab Newsome, Jack Manson and Pete Wright when putting the finger on their former WCHL performers. Stamps have Johnny Kennedy, a onetime linemate of Bob Carse's on Riley Mullen's Flyers of 1945-46. Big Jack McDonald, formerly with New York Rangers of the National Hockey league, completed the trio. Kennedy was the backchecker on this line. As well he found time to snare his share of points.

Wright, a 190-pound defenceman, started the present campaign with Saskatoon Quakers. Like Bob Watt, elusive Ponoka pivot, he is the professional property of Cleveland Barons, American Hockey league champions.

Stamps, presently running in third place in president Charlie Lewis' four team circuit, are keen to take over the first or second rungs of the intermediate wheel. Recently shifty Roy Jardine, slim forward assumed the coaching reins from rearguard Dune Grant (no relation to the Calgary forward).

Jardine, a Regina product, and always in the past a prolific point getter in intermediate circles, was the kingpin of the Red Deer squad last year. Like the aforementioned Kennedy. Len Tomalty and several other ex-Red Deer stars, Jardine joined the Ponoka team to start the present season, once it was established there would be no 'big' team in Red Deer.

Mercurys and Stampeders battled into overtime at Ponoka last Thursday before the capital city aggregation got home by a 5-3 count in overtime.

LITTLE TO CHOOSE

It could be that the squads will stage exactly the same kind of slam-bang, little-to-choose type of hockey warfare at the east end palace tonight.

Camrose Maroons and Wetaskiwin juniors, remaining teams in the Intermediate loop, are idle tonight. Tuesday Maroons journey to Wetaskiwin for a game.

MUSCLEMAN, Frank Marconi, a 230-pound grappler from Arkon, Ohio, will make his debut on promoter Al Oeming's weekly wrestling card at the Stock Pavilion Tuesday evening. He meets Ted Tourtas, Los Angeles, Greek, in a 45-minute special event.

Bev Bentley In Rare Form As Lethbridge Ties Caps

REGINA, Dec. 27.—Regina Caps, Western Canada Hockey league leaders, were hard pressed to gain 1-1 draw decision against Pete Slobodian's Lethbridge Maple Leafs in a close checking game played here Christmas Day.

Bev Bentley, Caps youthful netminder, was all that stood between the Art Somers' coached crew and a setback at the hands of the aroused fourth place visitors.

Time and again Bentley, nephew of the famed NHL pair, Max and Doug Bentley, was a one-man barrier against the assaults of Steve Latoski, Grant Hall, Stan Maxwell, Ken Simpson and other Leaf snipers.

Only Simpson, playing his second season in the circuit, was able to put the puck past the sprightly Cap watchdog. His goal came at 6.15 of the second period, off a pass from rookie Jack Evans, a former teammate of Simpson's on Lethbridge Native Son juniors.

Dave (Sweeney) Schriner, veteran ex-National league great, and former coach of Maple Leafs, clicked for Caps' lone tally past the midway mark of the third stanza.

A 10-minute overtime session failed to break the deadlock. Both Bentley and Mallie Hughes, Leaf cage guardian, endured to give ground in the bargain frame.

The tie extended Caps' league leadership and left Lethbridge one point behind the third-place Calgary Stampeders.

Greatly outplayed in the first two periods, Caps trailed 1-0 going into the third session on Simpson's goal before Schriner tipped Mel Hill's blue line drive into Leafs net for the equalizer.

Caps carried the play for the remainder of the period and in the overtime against the tired visitors.

The teams played on even terms for the first five minutes of the opening period but relentless skating by the Leafs brought attacks surging in on Bentley time and again. He saved flawlessly but Lethbridge would not be denied. Early in the second period Evans broke away and managed to pass to Simpson after he was overtaken by Jack Wilkie Regina defence man.

Simpson beat Bentley cleanly. Jack Taggart of Lethbridge was serving a minor penalty when the goal was scored.

Hill's long drive through a maze of legs was just tipped into the corner of the net by Schriner with Hughes standing helplessly by.

LINE-UPS:

LETHBRIDGE — Hughes; Nordin, Boorman; Latoski; Hall, Heximer Subs: Taggart, Gibson, Menzies, Kirkpatrick, Evans, Simpson, Maxwell, Terry.

REGINA—Bentley; Myles, G. Kyle, McCullough; Schriner, Hill, Subs: Wilkie, B. Kyle, McDougall, Van Dorian, Hauck, Brown, Statteson, Tillson.

Officials — Hedley McDonald, Stan Spain.

SUMMARY:

FIRST PERIOD—Scoring none. Penalty—B. Kyle.

SECOND PERIOD — Lethbridge Simpson (Evans) 6:15.

Penalties—Taggart (2), Boorman.

THIRD PERIOD—Regina, Schriner (Hill) 12:15.

Penalties—Statteson, Maxwell, Terry, G. Kyle.

OVERTIME—Scoring none. Penalties—None.

Mills-Newman Match Could Last All Night

It might be a good idea if fans taking in promoter Al Oeming's weekly wrestling show at the Stock Pavilion Tuesday night took along their sleeping bags—it could develop into an overnight show.

The last time a no-time-limit-fight-to-the-finish match was staged in Calgary (where's that?), the contestants fought for something like two hours and 40 minutes. Texas Jim Wright and Lou (the Body) Newman were matched in that one.

The Mills-Newman joust, an alternative best-of-three affair, will be the main event of the usual four-match card.

In the semi-windup it will be popular Lew Laird, Boston, against the Cardiff Giant, who, in his first appearance here last week threatened to steal Newman's thunder as the bad boy of local grunt and groaning circles.

A NEW FACE

A newcomer, Frank Marconi—230 pound bundle of muscle out of Akron, Ohio—will match wits with Ted Tourtas, the Greek from Los Angeles, in a 45-minute special event.

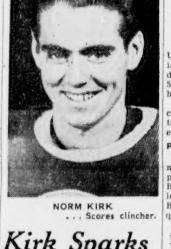
In the preliminary Dallard Oullette mixes it with Larry Jacobson, former Canadian amateur king of the middleweights.

Wally Beaumont and Cecil Goldstick will handle the officiating.

First match is scheduled for 8.15 o'clock.

BIG GRUDGE MATCH

Newman will be back for Tuesday's show but in place of Wright it will be Al (Mr. Murder) Mills in the big grudge match. Last week Newman roughed Mills up more than somewhat while copping the decision.



NORM KIRK
. . . Scores clincher.

Kirk Sparks Royals Win In Overtime

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., Dec. 27.—(CP)—Normie Kirk, former Edmonton junior, blazed in a long shot in the overtime period to give the league-leading New Westminster Royals a 4-3 Christmas Day victory over Vancouver Canucks in a Pacific Coast Hockey league contest.

Royals had to come from behind to overcome a 3-2 deficit late in the third period. Bud Richie tied the score, shooting from behind the net, with the puck going in off goalie Jackson's skate.

Hermie Gruha, Bill Shill and Kuntz scored for Vancouver. Amy Dufault tallied New Westminster's other goals.

Jackson Saves Day For San Francisco

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Dec. 27.—(AP)—San Diego and San Francisco played to an overtime 5-5 tie in a Pacific Coast Hockey league game here Sunday night.

The scoring was all done in the first and third periods.

Coach Bucky Skinner shot San Diego into a 5-4 advantage near the end of the third period but Bush Jackson ex-Edmonton Junior, tied the count.

Hergesheimer, Desson, Burman and Strain potted other Frisco tallies while McKay, Poitras, St. Pierre and McCarthy were San Diego's other goal-getters.

Portsmouth Back On Top of Soccer Heap

LONDON, Dec. 27.—(CP)—Portsmouth returned to the top of the first division of the English football league Saturday, beating Chelsea 2-1 as Birmingham City downed the league leaders, Newcastle United 2-0.

By its victory Portsmouth moved one point ahead of Newcastle United and Derby County which climbed into a second place tie by battling Arsenal to a 3-3 draw.

14 STATEMATES

Fourteen games ended in deadlocks, six of them in the first division. Five scoreless ties were recorded including three in the first division — Blackpool-Huddersfield Town, Manchester United-Liverpool and Charlton Athletic-Preston North End.

West Bromwich Albion, leaders in the second division, edged Sheffield Wednesday 1-0 on a goal by centre half Vernon—his first in five years of English league competition. Tottenham Hotspur tripped Leicester City 2-1 to move into a second-place tie with Southampton, which lost to Nottingham Forest 3-2. The runner-ups were four points behind West Bromwich.

Hull City defeated Rotherham United 3-2 in the day's big match in the northern section of the third division which drew a crowd of 50,000. The Tumbulls cut Rotherham's lead to three points.

Three penalties—two of them converted—featured the Charlington-Carlisle United game which ended tied 2-2.

PROTECTS LEAD

In the southern section of the northern division Swansea Town protected its two-point lead over Bournemouth and Boscombe Athletic by beating Reading 2-0. Bournemouth trampled over Torquay United 5-0.

Eighty-six of the league's 88 teams saw action Christmas Day. The match between Wrexham and Mansfield Town third division northern section clubs was postponed.

Cold weather made ground conditions difficult in most of the games in the Scottish league. Hibernian protected its one-point leadership in the "A" division, tying Queen of the South 3-3. Second-place Glasgow Rangers also settled for a draw, 2-2, with Falkirk.

Mexican Baseball League To Meet

SAN LUIS POTOSI, Mex., Dec. 27.—(AP)—The reorganized Mexican Baseball League will meet in Monterrey next month to plan the 1949 schedule.

Dr. Quijano Pitman, league president, said probably eight, and possibly nine teams will play in the circuit.

Last season, when the circuit was bossed by Jorge Pasquel, the clubs dwindled from six to four, and the league folded in mid-season. Clubs blamed costly imported players and Pasquel's "dictatorship" for the failure.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 27.—(AP)—A 34-second scoring spurt in the second period gave Omaha Knights a 2 victory over St. Paul Saints in a United States Hockey league game Sunday night.

The Knights settled the game late in the second period when Eddie Reigle and Winky Smith counted quick goals. Reigle's goal was his second. Gordie Heale also scored for Omaha. Dutch Del Monte counted both St. Paul goals.

Colville in Seat As Ramblers Win

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 27.—(CP)—New Haven Ramblers Sunday night won their first game for their new coach — Neil Colville. Playing under him for the first time, Ramblers blanked Washington Lions 2-0 in an American Hockey league game. Jack Jordon and Steve Hrymnak did the scoring.

A clock that winds itself every time the temperature changes one degree has been invented.

Spokane Flyers Set U.S. Hockey Record

SPOKANE, Dec. 27.—(AP)—Spokane Flyers won their 19th straight Western International victory at home Sunday night and claimed a United States record for senior amateur teams.

The victim was Nelson Maple Leafs who blew a second-period lead and lost, 6-4.

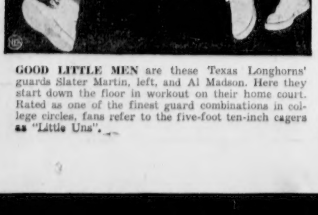
Spokane officials said the win breaks a four-year-old record of 18 consecutive home hockey victories set by Boston Olympics of the Eastern Senior Amateur league in 1944.

The Flyers have not lost a game at home all season and are first ahead in first place in the four-team senior amateur circuit.

Cy Rouse, formerly of Saskatoon, led Spokane with a pair of goals while singletons were picked up by Nadeau, Scott, Bill Snyder and McBride.

Kilpatrick, Vickers and Lubbeck, with a brace, scored Nelson goals.

CLEVELAND, Dec. 27.—(CP)—Goalie Johnny Bower registered Cleveland's first shutout of the season as Barons blanked Indianapolis Capitals 4-0 Saturday night before 9,068 fans. Victory sent Barons into third place in the western division of the American Hockey league.



"ROOKIE OF THE YEAR"

Rangers' Al Stanley A 'Take-Charge Guy'

By Frank Kaplan

TORONTO, Dec. 27.—(CP)—Al Stanley, 22-year-old rookie with New York Rangers, had his dreams of National Hockey league fame when he played shinny with the neighborhood kids on the corner rink. Now the Timmins youngster is shaping up as the "rookie of the year" and it looks like his dreams will come true.

The Ranger has been playing like a champion since his arrival from Providence.

But, as Doug (Windsor Star) Vaughan points out, "it is, strictly speaking, unfair to the rest of the New York Rangers to credit him . . . with being a one-man rehabilitation unit."

"At the same time," writes Doug, "it is pertinent that Stanley is much better than the followers of the Rangers expected he would be. Minor league kids don't generally click from the opening buzzer."

Vaughan looked Stanley over and concludes that he is a "take-charge guy."

"On defence . . . he is diaspectful of the reputations of other players around the league. He leans into them so that they know they have been hit. On offence he does not betray the over-eagerness so common in rookies."

Doug continues: "The most remarkable aspect of the rookie's showing is that he has withstood so well the pressure of the tremendous build-up." The youngster was praised as a future ace from the first day he was introduced into big-league hockey.

From there on in it was the rookie's ball. A build-up like Stanley got could easily have gone to a youngster's head.

Aging Speedboat King May Give Up Throttle

DETROIT, Dec. 27.—(AP)—Gar Wood probably will not drive a boat in the next Harmsworth Trophy race.

The famed speedboat king, home from Florida for an annual Christmas gathering of his family and friends, indicated he would have an active part in all plans for a defence of the trophy, but would leave the driving to younger pilots.

REAL OLD-TIMER

"I'm 68 years old," he said in reply to a question regarding his participation in a renewal of the Harmsworth competition next summer. "Sure, I drive my own plane about the country, but there isn't a vibration in it that you get at the wheel of a speedboat."

A formal challenge for the Harmsworth trophy, symbolic of the world's speedboat championship, is expected from Ernie Wilson of Ingersoll, Ont. Under rules governing competition the challenge must be on file before Jan. 1.

A number of rule changes have been made since the last Harmsworth race was held here in 1933. One of the changes would permit a Canadian contestant to be designed by a non-resident of Canada and to be powered with a British engine.

Heretofore the rules required competing craft to be designed by citizens of the country represented and to be constructed wholly in that country.

Another stipulation of the governing rules is that if one country challenges by Jan. 1, other countries have until May 1 to enter. Besides a Canadian challenge, officials of the Yachtsmen's Association of America have heard that Maurice Bottcher of South Africa and Achille Castoldi of Italy might enter the race.

KAISER MAYBE

Industrialist Henry J. Kaiser also is being mentioned as a possible participant. He announced shortly after this year's Gold Cup race that he would have a boat ready for any major races next summer.

If a Harmsworth race is held in Detroit next summer it probably will be during the week-end of July 30-Aug. 1.

BRR, IT'S COLD IN THAT ICY COAST WATER

VICTORIA, Dec. 27.—(CP)—Brrrr. Eighteen-year-old George Peterson of Victoria won the 29th annual Christmas Day 50-yard swim in the inner harbor here. He took 35.42 seconds. The water was the coldest in years —39.44 degrees. Seven swimmers competed. All finished.

Injury Sidelines Eddie Sandford

BOSTON, Dec. 27.—(AP)—X-Rays Sunday disclosed that centre Ed Sandford of Boston Bruins suffered a slight right-shoulder separation when banged into the backboards by Chicago's Doug McCaig in Saturday night's National Hockey league game at the Garden. The services of Sandford will be lost for at least a week, the Bruins said.

More About Al Stanley

Post-holiday mumblings and how about your Christmas ties, bub? Gonna be foolhardy enough to wear any of 'em? . . . Barney Stanley, far better than a green hand hockeyist in his salad days, as many in these parts will attest, has never seen nephew Al Stanley, current NHL sensation in action . . . "However I've kept in pretty close touch with the boy and his family through the years," the now successful Edmonton businessman points out . . . Uncle Barney is inclined to think that over the long haul the rookie of New York Rangers will win a reputation for steadiness, rather than brilliancy . . . He hopes to be in the east before many weeks, will make it a point to catch a Ranger game somewhere along the route . . . Whatever became of Spunk Sparrow, once-upon-a-time public hate No. 1 in these parts, in the days when Moose Jaw and Edmonton teams hooked up in Christmas Day puck duels? . . . Paid up members of the Monday morning quarterback club who made it to the city for the Yuletide included Bob Schrader and Buddy Noon . . . Schrader, formerly president of men's athletics at University of Alberta, came on from Brandon, accompanied by his wife . . . He's in the oil game these times . . . Noon is the youngster who has been tending goal for Joe Fisher's Medicine Hat Tigers of the WCHL, junior variety.

Veteran local rider Johnny (Red) Pollard got one home in the second slot the other afternoon at a Florida race course and the payoff was at better than 51-1.

Cotton Realized an Ambition

Highly regarded Joe Cotton, colored 96-year-old former fighter who passed away in hospital several days ago, realized one of his ambitions when he met Joe Louis at the Arena during the time the Brown Bomber spent in Edmonton during the war . . . Louis, in these parts to referee a number of bouts in the Golden Gloves, being staged at the Arena, readily acceded to a request that the old man have the opportunity of making his acquaintance . . . As a matter of fact Louis took on like he was the privileged one, his attitude all through the subsequent meeting and talk being one of great respect for the nonagenarian . . . High point in Cotton's career came when he battled great, if ill-advised Negro fighter, Jack Johnson, once holder of the world heavyweight crown . . . Further on what it can cost to operate a football club, eastern Canada style: Ottawa Roughriders, unsuccessful Grey cup finalists against Calgary, represented a nut of $110,000, with an overall deficit of just under $5,000 . . . Incidentally latest name to enter the conversation when it turns to who eventually will get the coaching job with Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Conference is that of Lionel Conacher . . . Conacher's interest in the grid game can't be doubted and as well he has business interests out this way, say those who think something of his chances.

Ted (The Coat) Christy, one of the best of the wrestlers to come this way from the point of view of histrionics, is a headliner around Hollywood these days.

To Settle A Wager

Attention you fellows at the RCAF: It's on record that Colin Kilburn, Flyer rookie, started out as a goalkeeper . . . He played all through one season as a midget, also donned the pads for a few games in his juvenile and junior days . . . Gene Mason, the box-fight promoter who is back in circulation again, hopes to open a gym early in the new year . . . "Just doing business off the sidewalk," is Mason's pet description of a fight promoter who hasn't a gym from which to operate . . . Naturally he guarantees a better matchmaking job once he has the chance to watch would be applicants for spots on his cards do their stuff . . . Freddy Solomon, another member of the thoroughbred fraternity, has a two year old by Fairmond stables at the Exhibition grounds of which he has high hopes . . . Incidentally all thoroughbreds will have a birthday next Saturday (Jan. 1) . . . All of which means that Citation heads into his four-year-old season with the turn into 1949 . . . Nutshelling a man who lives dangerously: Referee George Gravel, NHL storm-centre who dished out five penalties to Toronto Leafs as against a single sentence to Detroit Red Wings when the squads clashed at the week-end . . . Game was played right in Maple Leaf Gardens . . . Add the $64 question: Is there any good reason for classifying Barbara Ann Scott as an athlete?

Whatever became of plans to bring a Western Canada Junior Hockey league team this way for a holiday visit . . . And if arrangements really are underway why all the hush-hush?

Red Wings Bounce Back; Regain Lead From Boston

MONTREAL, Dec. 27.—Detroit Red Wings, kicked from the National Hockey league lead by Toronto Maple Leafs Saturday night bounced back into first place Sunday with a 3-1 win over Montreal Canadiens.

Pete Horeck

Chicago Black Hawks lost to Boston 2-1 Saturday but moved to within three points of the second-place Bruins with a 2-1 win over New York Rangers Sunday.

Boston's win and Detroit's 2-1 loss Saturday put Bruins ahead of the league briefly. They fell back to second spot Sunday.

In the other week-end game, New York blanked Montreal 2-0 in Montreal Saturday night.

Although crippled by the absence of three forwards, Detroit Barged ahead in the first period Sunday night on goals by Leo Reise and Pete Horeck. Bud Poile scored on a 20-foot drive in the final after Maurice Richard got Canadiens only goal in the second period by tipping in a 60-foot drive by Doug Harvey.

Gerry Couture scored Detroit's only goal against Toronto the night before while Max Bentley and Ray Timgren pushed home two markers for Leafs.

Grant Warwick

Chicago beat Rangers on goals by Roy and Jim Conacher, breaking the New York string of six games without a defeat. Sugar Jim Henry had a shutout until late in the final period when Nick Mickoski got New York's only goal.

Krobby Warwick of Boston got his 16th goal this year against Chicago Saturday—and it was the goal that gave Boston the game and put them in front of the league. It came just after Johnny Peirson scored from Paul Ronty. Metro Prystai scored for Chicago on a pass from Adam Brown.

Charlie Rayner's shutout victory over Montreal Saturday came when Buddy O'Connor's pass sent Clint Albright up for a first-period goal and Dune Fischer set up Don Raleigh for a marker in the final period.

Canuck Grid Team Drubs Mexicans

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 27.—(CP)—A football team representing Canada Sunday night defeated Mexico 20-0 in the consolation round of the International Amateur Football federation's first tournament.

The title game, in which the United States beat Hawaii 14-0, followed the Canada-Mexico tilt.

Most of the Canadian players gained their experience with the University of British Columbia Thunderbirds in the Pacific Northwest intercollegiate conference.

Pete Thodos of Calgary Stampeders, Dominion football kings, watched the grid doubleheader. The organization hopes to make it an annual event.

Pla-Mors Wallop Minneapolis 12-3

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 27.—(AP)—Scoring seven goals in the final period for their biggest thrust of the season, Kansas City Pla-Mors swamped Minneapolis Millers 12-3 Sunday night in a United States Hockey league game. The crowd numbered 3,748.

Larry Silvestri and Ray Powell each scored three goals for Pla-Mors and Silvestri had assists on three others. Doug Baldwin tallied two. Other Pla-Mor scorers were Jack Miller, Don Slater, Hank Blade and Jack Jackson. Squire Allen, Ants Atanas and Jack Lavoie tallied for Millers.

Bridgeport Vets Given 'a Life'

WATERLOO, Ont., Dec. 27.—(CP)—Bridgeport Veterans were tentatively re-admitted into the Northern Waterloo Senior Rural Hockey association Thursday night after a meeting of the league's four clubs settled a dispute that led to the Vets expulsion Tuesday.

The move depends on agreement of present league officials, all of whom were not present at the meeting.

Bridgeport was ousted from the league after president Ray Forwell charged them with playing an ineligible player, using rough tactics and not co-operating.

Legal action, which the team threatened if they were not permitted to continue operating in the group, was held up pending further developments.

John Chad Paces Reds to 5-2 Win

PROVIDENCE, R.I., Dec. 27.—(CP)—Providence Reds Sunday night picked up their second American Hockey league victory over Springfield Indians this week-end, beating the Indians 5-2.

Johnny Chad, Ex-Edmonton junior, scored two for the Reds with Carl Liscombe, Harvey Fraser and Jackie Hamilton getting the others. Springfield blocked goalie Harvey Bennett's shutout late in the final period when Doug McMurdy and Rene Trudell scored.

Calgary Sportsman Dies Suddenly

CALGARY, Dec. 27.—(CP)—Stanley Jackson, 68, long-time Calgary sportsman, died suddenly at his home Thursday. Native of Manchester, England, he had lived in Calgary for 44 years. He was one of the city's original cricketers and was a member of the Calgary Hillhurst soccer football club, winners of the Dominion championship in 1922.

Smitten In 'Drydock' As Flyers Head South

Freddy Smitten, who sat it out on the sidelines while Flyers dropped a 6-5 decision to Calgary Stampeders at the Arena last Thursday, will continue in drydock for an indefinite period.

Smitten injured a wrist in a workout early last week and must undergo further treatment until such time as the wrist is strong again.

As a consequence the smooth-skating winger will not be in the fray when the Allan cup champions head south to Calgary Monday noon. Flyers and Stamps come together in Victoria Arena tonight in a regular Western Canada Hockey league tilt.

BATHGATE TO PLAY

With Smitten hors de combat Bernie Bathgate, who operated on the line with Elmer Kreller and Alec Pringle in the previous losing effort against Stampeders, again will leg it up and down left wing. Normally a centre, Bathgate, at least temporarily, has been relegated to fill-in roles because of the continued fine play of pivots Morey Binstad, Doug Anderson and Kreller.

Flyers' coach Frank Currie indicated late Sunday that actually no changes are planned in the line-up of the capital city squad. In other words he'll shoot tonight with the same gang that went into action last Thursday.

Following the engagement against the Cowboys, Flyers head on into Lethbridge for a Wednesday clash with Pete Slobodian's gang. Leafs, notoriously hard to head off on their own ice, figure to be the usual handful on this occasion.

LETHBRIDGE JINX

So far this season they have whopped Flyers three times in as many starts in their hometown surroundings. Both Lethbridge and Calgary are close enough to Flyers in the league race that an extra special effort can be expected on the part of the Curtlemen to pick up at least a split of the points on the two-game road jaunt.

LONDON, Dec. 27.—(Reuters)—British children shared Saturday in a musical Christmas gift sent by German children to the infant Prince Charles. HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 27.—(AP)—Howard Hughes, head of RKO Studios, has tentatively assigned Robert Mitchum the leading role in a movie slated to begin shooting "sometime in January," a studio spokesman said. The handsome film star's trial on charges if violating narcotic laws is scheduled for Jan. 10.

Harry Ornest Again Assaulted By a Fan

FORT WORTH, Tex., Dec. 27.—(AP)—Six players were given major penalties for fighting and referee Harry Ornest of Edmonton was assaulted by a spectator as Dallas Friday night defeated Fort Worth 5-2 in a United States Hockey league game.

Ornest was poked in the face as he left the ice after the game. His assailant was seized by police and removed to headquarters.

Most of the rink action developed in the final two minutes. Rangers Aubrey Travis and Freddie Weaver and Texans Tom Rockney and Bud Gagnon were given penalties for fighting.

George Bougie, Jacques Locas, Tom Rockey, Eddie Dorohoy and Marineau were the Dallas scorers. Eric Unger and Sam Casanato tallied for Fort Worth.

It was the third time in two years that Ornest has been struck by a fan.

Saskatoon Juniors Strengthen Lead

FLIN FLON, Dec. 27.—(CP)—Saskatoon Junior Quakers Sunday night strengthened their hold on the leadership of the Northern Saskatchewan Junior Hockey league by defeating Flin Flon Bombers 6-2. Bombers moved into a two-goal lead early in the game, but Quakers banged home three markers in the second period and three in the third to take the contest.

'Daffy' Sports Happenings of '48

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—(BUP)—This has been a busy year in sports, with grim struggles for titles and headlines—and money—but at times there were lighter moments which produced daffy developments you may have overlooked.

For instance, there was the Santa Susana Stakes, won by Mrs. Rabbit with Candy Kane in the money. Could you think of a better Christmas-Easter parlay?

And then the Phillies tugged at the smile muscles of your kisser when they announced that henceforth and forevermore they would "stop paying big money" for established stars and concentrate on development of young players. That is, undoubtedly, a reaffirmation of their 1901 policy.

HA, HA

Then there was the sensational announcement that the University of Hawaii would open redoubtable Army's 1949 football schedule. Yessir, the same U of H which engaged in a thrilling 73 to 12 defeat at the hands of Nevada.

The Detroit police moved into the act by setting six world pistol shooting records. Which reminds us, boys, that there is a law in Detroit against ogling the gals.

Also the Valdosta-to-Waycross bicycle race in Georgia. One writer, a Western Union boy, was reportedly disqualified as a professional because he took a tip while delivering a telegram.

In Greece, troops were called out to protect the Olympic flame carriers from the guerillas. You couldn't have had it much hotter in the old town Christmas night.

NAUGHTY, NAUGHTY

The closest approach to a scandal involved the Olympic athletes. There were reports that the girls visited the men's camps frequently at night. The upshot was that 250 women athletes were moved farther away. Can you imagine?

Probably the most intriguing bit of news of the sports year came out of Korea.

This little tidbit concerned the fact that one Lee Hynk, a muscular citizen who tosses bar bells and such, bettered the world mark by 13 pounds doing the 214-pound snatch.

There was, also, the damage suit brought against the Boston Red Sox by Mrs. Mary Corriveau. The lady demanded $1,000, claiming injuries had been sustained from a ball hit by Lou Boudreau of the Cleveland Indians.

The gentlemen who own the Red Sox should sue her for even daring to bring up his name.

Do you remember what Boudreau did to those Red Sox with his bat in that American league playoff?

Scribe Likes Conacher As NHL Coach of Year

By WALLY IZSAK

TORONTO, Dec. 27.—(CP)—Pilfying glances galore were thrown at big Charlie Conacher when the National Hockey league teams rolled into action this season. But now, take a peek at the official standings and you'll find his Chicago Black Hawks right up there with the best of them.

When the former member of the famous high-scoring "Kid line" of Toronto Maple Leafs took over the helm of the hapless Hawks last season, few expected the club to evacuate the cellar position for quite a spell.

But now, says Harry (London Free Press) Eisben, if he "isn't named the NHL coach of the year, then Charles should sue the selectors."

"For a month or so it appeared as if Conache's Hawks, who finished deep in the coal hole in 1947-48, were destined to end up in a similar position this season," says Eisben. "There were even rumors that Charles was on the verge of being bounced from his post, because, as the grapevine had it, he couldn't get along with his players."

It was being whispered around, says Eisben, that Conacher was too strict a disciplinarian and was too heavy with the whip over his players' heads.

Santa Claus dropped something extra special down the chimneys of members of the Edmonton Eskimos, 1948 Big Four Baseball league champions.

The gifts were in the form of snappy fountain pens, each with the recipients names inscribed neatly. Gifts were purchased from a $200 fund set up each year for the pennant-winning club. Each member of Bright Matthews-sponsored Eskimos received one, as did trainer Cecil Goldstick, John Ducey made the presentations.

SANTA CLAUS LETS 'HUNCH' PLAYERS DOWN

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 27.—(AP)—Santa Claus didn't come through for "hunch" players at Tropical Park on Christmas Eve.

D. Emery's seven-year-old gelding named Santa Claus, which won on Christmas Day two years ago and paid $9.50 for $2, finished a dismal seventh in the field of 12 in the fourth race.

The winner was Our Louie with Logan Batcheller up, paying $5.80, $3.40 and $2.80 across the board.

FINDS HOPE FOR BOXING

Williams Gets Nod As Fighter of Year

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—(AP)—Ike Williams is the fighter of the year in Ring Magazine's poll of the rookie of 1948 in the annual ratings of Ring Magazine.

Both awards were announced Sunday in a copyright story appearing in the February issue of Ring which reports an "emphatic rally" by the sport. Editor Nat Fleischer rates boxing still far below its pre-war level but finds hope in the influx of new faces and numerous title shifts of '48.

Williams took No. 1 honors on the strength of three defences of his lightweight championship and seven other victories. His rating was based on the calibre of his opponents as he took on the best men in his division.

The Marcel Cerdan-Tony Zale brawl at Jersey City, in which the Frenchman knocked out Zale to take the middleweight crown to Europe, was rated the fight of the year.

Round of the year was the 11th between Joe Louis and Jersey Joe Walcott at Yankee Stadium when the Brown Bomber struck with his pre-war fury to knock out Walcott.

Louis, Williams and welterweight king Ray Robinson are listed as standouts in their classes in the annual year end rankings of all divisions.

Johnny Greco of Montreal was ranked fourth as a challenger for Robinson's welter crown. In the lightweight division Lt. Arthur King, Canadian and British Empire champion from Toronto, was ranked seventh.

Among the heavyweights, Louis still remains in a class by himself. Next comes Walcott and Ezzard Charles of Cincinnati, in that order.

Castellani took the rookie award by winning seven straight fights since Jan. 1.

New Guinea May Get Full Rank as State

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 27.—(CP)—The Australian trusteeship territory of New Guinea may be incorporated as an Australian State.

Prime Minister Joseph B. Chifley hinted at the possibility in the House of Representatives. He said the federal cabinet was moving to a stage when that portion of New Guinea under trusteeship "might be brought to a state similar to that of the people of Australia."

"There is no taxation there and I am not sure that the residents would want to be placed on an equal footing with Australian residents, but the government will give the matter further consideration," he added.

Mr. Chifley told members that the government would resist strongly any moves made to allow Japanese to migrate to New Guinea.

It was reported from Tokyo that the Japanese were so over-crowded that it would be necessary for them to start large-scale migration to the South Sea Islands with New Guinea as one of the principal migration centres.

New Guinea was formerly controlled by Australia as a mandated territory and is now administered by Australia under a trusteeship from the United Nations.

Australia's administration of the territory has been strongly criticized by the United Nations Trusteeship Council members—particularly by the Russian delegates.

The federal government declares it has done more for the natives than has ever been done and refutes allegations of bad administration. The matter will be discussed fully at the next session of the federal parliament.

B.C. Says Oleo Sale Is Illegal

VICTORIA, Dec. 27.—(CP)—Sale and manufacture of oleomargarine is still illegal in British Columbia, Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer said.

Under a 1935 act of the legislature, the sale and production of a butter substitute is against the law in B.C.

Mr. Wismer said what action will be taken has not been decided.

Sale could be made legal by an order-in-council or a change in statutes by the legislature.

The ban in B.C. holds despite the recent ruling of the supreme court of Canada permitting manufacture and sale of butter substitutes in the dominion.

Mr. Wismer explained that in 1935 the legislature ruled that provisions of the Federal Dairy Industries Act should apply in this province. This is the dominion act that covered the margarine ban.

Since it was decided by the supreme court that this provision is beyond the power of the federal parliament, it is automatic that the provincial law holds good.

The provincial act provides that any clause in the federal act may be waived by the provincial government under order-in-council.

Small sales of margarine have been made in Vancouver since the dominion ban was lifted, but there has been no general sale in the province.

Healthy Cuts in Taxation Seen For Coming Session

Ottawa Officials Busy Making Plans For Jan. 26 Opening

OTTAWA, Dec. 27.—(CP)—Officials in a dozen government departments will begin making concrete preparations this week for the opening of parliament Wednesday, Jan. 26.

Some steps for the opening already have been taken but, with the actual date unknown, they necessarily were of a preliminary nature. However, Prime Minister St. Laurent's announcement Thursday that the house will open Jan. 26 was the signal for a bustle of activity.

The preparation of estimates and the hundred and one other tasks that fit into the parliamentary picture now will be carried towards completion. The work likely will go on right up to the day that parliament opens.

Observers predict that this fifth —and probably last—session of the 20th parliament will be one of the liveliest in years. It comes in what is expected to be an election year and both the government and opposition will seek to draw every political advantage from the proceedings.

For the man on the street, the session will have at least one cheerful aspect. With a general election in the offing—some say it may come in June or October—the government is certain to introduce healthy cuts in taxation, both in personal income taxes and many of the indirect levies.

The cost of living will rank high in the topics of debate and the opposition parties can be expected to belabor the government for its alleged failure to cope with this problem. The government's answer will be the tax-cutting budget.

The session will bring to the floor two new party leaders. Prime Minister St. Laurent as Liberal leader and George Drew, the former Ontario Premier, as leader of the Progressive Conservatives and the official opposition.

Observers here look for sparks to fly between Mr. Drew and M. J. Coldwell, the CCF leader. They already have clashed verbally on the public platform and over the air in two recent by-elections.

Two major pieces of legislation will be No. 1 priority this year. They are the bills to implement Newfoundland's entry into confederation and to give legislative force to the North Atlantic Security Pact. They likely will get general approval from all parties.

There probably will be some conflict over the government's announced intention of extending rental and other controls still hanging over from the war period. There likely will be criticism, too, if it moves, as Mr. St. Laurent has indicated, to abolish appeals to the Privy Council.

The Liberal party will have a slight edge over all other parties when the next session starts.

With recent by-elections completed, the house standing is: Liberals, 124; Progressive Conservatives, 67; CCF, 32; Social Credit, 13; Independent, eight; vacant, one; total, 245. With one seat vacant, [illegible] will enter the Commons with a majority of four over all other parties on Jan. 26.

Campaigns by sea, land and air in the Second World War were relived briefly Thursday in a Christmas smoker of members of the United Services Institute.

Soviets Blast 'Iron Curtain'

MOSCOW, Dec. 27.—(BUP)—The Soviet vice-minister of cinematography today called the American film, "The Iron Curtain," "scurrilous and defamatory," and promised an all-out assault by Soviet film-makers against "Hollywood propaganda."

Vassily Shscherbiny, addressing a conference of songwriters, said Soviets must "militantly and actively participate in the struggle against imperialism and . . . boldly castigate and expose the efforts of warmongers in the imperialist camp."

He listed several forthcoming Soviet films as part of this campaign, including: "Meeting on the Elbe," "Secret Mission," "The Man From Wall Street," "The Marked Dollar," and "We Defend the Peace."

New Trans-Jordan Move Demanded

RAMALLAH, Palestine, Dec. 27.—(AP)—Residents of 64 towns and villages in central Palestine demanded yesterday that King Abdullah be enthroned soon as monarch of a united Arab Palestine and Trans-Jordan. Similar meetings have been held recently in other Arab sections of the Holy Land and have caused concern in most of the other Arab states which joined Trans-Jordan in the war on Israel. Those states oppose the idea of an expanded Trans-Jordan.

Strike Settlement Talks To Resume

The union had asked a 20-cent-an-hour wage increase, a 40-hour week and increased operator contributions to a pension fund. They rejected counter proposals including the pension plan offer, and 18-cent-an-hour wage increase and a 44-hour week.

Children Everywhere Find Again There Really Is a Santa Claus

ONCE AGAIN THIS HAPPY scene has come and gone in thousands of homes around the world. Staff Photographer Eric Bland here has caught year-old Maldwyn Jones, of 9915 113 street, about to celebrate his first real Christmas by opening his gifts beneath the gaily tinselled tree.

Christmas is the feast of children everywhere, and although the grown-ups may enjoy the more down-to-earth phases of the holiday, there are few such happy moments in a child's life as the first Christmas morning he is old enough to realize there is a Santa Claus.

Mountie and Eskimo Join In Arctic Christmas Fete

By The Canadian Press

Across the bleak face of the Canadian north, scattered whites and primitive Eskimo joined in celebration of Christmas.

The natives came into the tiny settlements of the white man to join in festivities that included fancing, singing, toasts and food.

Department of transport meteorologists, mounties and Hudson's Bay Company representatives shared their exuberance. As described in messages reporting on the day and its preludes, these were some of the activities:

"At Coppermine, N.W.T., the distant drone of an airplane brought joy to young and old for it brought Santa Claus here for the first time. All morning, the Eskimo men prepared large snowhouses to welcome him. Flares were placed around each snowhouse and were lit as the plane flew overhead."

At Nottingham Island in Hudson Straits, they had a fabricated Christmas tree.

The celebration began Christmas eve with the Eskimo families saying hello and passing news to friends and relatives by radio.

"Christmas day dawned a little after 10 a.m. to find presents had already been distributed to the natives from the tree. Dinner was served with all the trimmings . . . Some of us were fortunate enough to talk with our homes over amateur radio stations which was the really big event of the day for the white men.

"The natives enjoyed the feast and sang from their native hymn books."

Again:

"At Cape Hope's Advance, festivities were opened Christmas eve with Father Steipmann of the Roman Catholic Mission conducting Mass followed by an Anglican service conducted by Native Jimmy Koktak after which a light lunch was served. Christmas activities began with the Eskimos competing in a five-mile komatic race followed by various sports and dinner."

Zionists Praise Canada's Action Towards Israel

MONTREAL, Dec. 27 — (CP)— Samuel J. Zacks, president of the United Zionist Council of Canada, yesterday sent a message to prime minister St. Laurent expressing gratification of Zionists throughout Canada at the government's decision to recognize Israel.

In a telegram to the prime minister, Mr. Zacks paid tribute to the efforts of Canadian statesmen, including Mr. Justice Rand, a member of the United Nation Special Committee on Palestine, and External Affairs Minister Pearson, to bring peace to the middle east.

"The Canadian government's action in recognizing Israel is not only a step toward world peace but also marks a strengthening of the United Nations," he said.

BUTTERFLY IS WINTER VISITOR

Balmy Christmas weather prevailing in Edmonton brought an unexpected visitor to Marjorie Clark, 10712 99 avenue. At the week-end she was greeted by a butterfly when she started on her daily walk. As she opened the door a green-tab-yellow butterfly swept past her into the home. The walk was forgotten as Marjorie, aged 10, stayed home to welcome her visitor. She still treasures evidence of the city's mild weather.

"The whole matter now is being considered," said Mr. Wismer. "We are in touch with legal authorities in Alberta and Saskatchewan, and the Federal government."

He identified himself as Charles Clubine, 19, of Guelph.

City police cells was the grim setting for 16 persons on Christmas Day.

At the time boys in blue did their level best to make it a feast day in the best tradition even if not exactly a merry Christmas for their guests.

There was Christmas turkey for all the "sitors and the trimmings that go with it.

The Salvation Army provided an extra treat of candy, fruit and nuts.

As a few of the guests were in the libet to the 16 for celebrating too vigorously, police felt the cup that cheers could be dispensed with at the jail house feast.

Many Governments See Shuffles in 1948

OTTAWA, Dec. 27.—(CP)—Leadership of Canada's two major political parties changed hands at historic national conventions during 1948, a year that saw other changes in some of the country's governments.

Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, sauve 66-year-old Quebec corporation lawyer, was chosen at a national Liberal convention in August to take over the party leadership from Prime Minister Mackenzie King who had been party chief since 1919.

Mr. St. Laurent, who became prime minister on Nov. 15, won relatively minister of external affairs. He received 848 votes to 323 for Agriculture Minister Gardiner and 56 for Hon. C. G. Power, former air minister.

An impressive victory was scored by George Alexander Drew, politically magnetic premier of Ontario, at a progressive Conservative party convention in October.

The convention was called to choose a successor for John Bracken, 65, who decided to end his six year reign as party leader because of his age and ill-health.

Mr. Drew, 54-year-old Toronto lawyer and three-time premier of his province, won on the first ballot. He polled 827 votes to 311 for John Diefenbaker, Progressive-Conservative member of the Commons for Lake Centre, Saskatchewan, and 104 for Donald Fleming, member for Toronto-Eglinton.

The CCF party, third largest in the Commons, held a convention in Winnipeg, but not for the purpose of choosing a leader. M. J. Coldwell, the party's leader since 1940, was confirmed in his post.

Mr. Drew's election led to his resignation as premier of Ontario. A caucus of the party's members in Ontario chose 69-year-old Hon. T. L. Kennedy as new leader and premier. Later, a caucus of all party supporters in Ontario decided Mr. Kennedy would head the government until next April, when a convention would be called to choose a new leader.

A cabinet shuffle which followed Mr. King's resignation as prime minister led to the appointment of a new premier in Manitoba.

Hon. Stuart Garson became justice minister in the federal cabinet and a caucus of supporters of the Manitoba coalition government chose Hon. Douglas L. Campbell as his successor. Mr. Campbell, a Liberal, was minister of agriculture before his appointment.

In Nova Scotia, Robert L. Stanfield of Halifax was chosen to fill a three-year vacancy in the leadership of the Progressive Conservative party there.

As the year neared an end, there were rumors that the Liberal party would call a convention to choose a new leader in Quebec. Adelard Godbout, leader of the party since 1936, was one of the 84 Liberals defeated when the Union Nationale party chalked up a landslide victory in a July election for the 92 seats in the Legislative Assembly.

Margarine Is Okay For Table Says Bea

By Bea Thrifty

Will I ever learn?

I've eaten too much turkey, too much plum pudding, too much of everything . . . and I'll be suffering for it all week long.

I'll probably recover just in time to go through the whole business again for New Year's.

But Ohhhhhhhh . . . wasn't it good?

Pattern 4660: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50, 52. Size 36 takes 3¼ yds. 39-in. Flower transfer inc.

This pattern easy to use, simple to sew, is tested for fit. Has complete illustrated instructions.

Send twenty-five cents (25c) in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this pattern. Print plainly size, name, address, style number.

Send your order to The Edmonton Bulletin, Pattern Department, 60 Front Street, W., Toronto, 1-A, Ontario.

But I have news for you today. I have tried a half pound of new margarine . . . and you can't tell the difference between the substitute and the butter . . . as long as you don't melt or cook it.

Here . . . me in my cavern of innocence . . . thought I was going to save on the cooking end of things, it seems the saving will have to come at the table.

So it's margarine in husband's lunch sandwiches.

Now . . . I suppose you're wondering what I am doing with the margarine when it isn't on the market yet.

Well I'll tell you . . . one company in the city which will supply margarine, wrapped a package of it in egg paper and gave it to me to augment my Christmas supplies of butter.

* * *

It did the job nicely . . . and as I cautioned before . . . don't use it for cooking!

* * *

This week will see margarine on the shelves of city stores at a price ranging from 42c to 46c.

This 42c to 46c pricing is far more amenable to the needs of that ol' budget isn't it?

* * *

In spite of the fact that I feel I'd not be sorry if I never saw another piece of turkey or ham or mincemeat . . . I seem to have a pantry full of the stuff.

* * *

But really there are wonderful things you can do with these leftovers.

For instance, ham roll with pimento cheese sauce leaves little in the way of palate-pleasing to be desired.

* * *

Mince some of that great, big luscious ham; add a spot of mustard and two pickles ground. Prepare baking powder biscuit dough, rolling it out to ¼ inch thickness. Spread with ham and roll as you would a jelly roll.

* * *

Bake in a hot oven until biscuit is golden brown. Serve with a sauce made of grated cheese and pimento strips or pimento cream cheese sauce.

It's rich 'n fattening 'n very, very good.

Modern Emphasis On Childhood Freedom

By Mildred Meyer Eldred

A philosophical question propounded in this column a week or so ago brought a good answer from Mrs. R.F.C., who believes that the idea of unhappiness being necessary to art is as erroneous as the idea that starving in a garret is the experience of all persons of genius.

One has to admit though, Mrs. R. F. C., that hunger would be a real spur to activities designed to end it, while the lazy, well-fed genius might never bestir himself to an expression of his talents.

If readers remember the question had to do with whether we would ever have artists of note if our present philosophy of making children happy were to be put into universal practice.

Mrs. R. F. C. answered the questioner by saying, if we read the lives of the greatest artists, writers and musicians, we learn that most of them had timid parents, families and congenial friends, and that they were provided with the necessities of life, if they had suffered grinding poverty it was only temporary or else they died young.

"It is true that some writers are very neurotic and their work is an outlet for their unhappiness. But the world might be a better place if people were all normal and if some of these books, good as they are, were never written.

"This is discussed in 'Modern Women, the Lost Sex,' in which reference is made to Johann Sebastian Bach. Bach led a quiet life as an organist, there is no record of neurotic tendencies, he fathered 20 children and every page of his music is a gem of perfection loved after 200 years.

"The artist Rubens is another example of pure genius, I believe if all children were well-treated they might have strong emotions but they would not be spiteful or vicious ones. The development of personality does not require that a person be maladjusted but it does require that they have freedom."

The future should answer these questions for us. It is certain that the modern emphasis in child rearing is to give children freedom to act upon their own initiative. If we embrace this with moderation and provide children, along with this privilege, the balanced experience of guidance, instruction and mild discipline, they should have a good background for the development of their own personalities.

Our leaflet No. 78 "Help To Be Had From Books," may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

WHY GROW OLD

Good Appearance Is Asset In Job-Hunting

By Josephine Lowman

Here are some more answers to the questions asked of Macy's, New York City, about the women who work for them.

"What does the employment interviewer look for in potential sales people? Of what importance are beauty, health and figure?"

Answer: "Probably the most important asset a potential saleslerk can have is a good appearance. This does not mean that she should be a 'Miss America' or one of Billie's 'Long Stemmed Roses.' Appearance ranks high because it is the basis of the first impression and the average sale is consummated in a few minutes, therefore, first impression counts.

"The next attribute is a pleasant voice and a fairly good background in the correct use of the English language. Obviously a girl with a nice face and figure, well groomed, will give a poor impression once she opens her mouth if her voice cannot live up to her appearance.

"The interviewer realizes the value of good health but except for obvious conditions or defects such as extreme nervousness, he cannot judge this in a short interview.

"Another vital qualification is courtesy. If the individual who starts a career in sales is, by nature courteous, then such things as being polite, helpful and interested in the customer, all of which are stressed as key functions of the ideal saleslerk, will be forthcoming with no effort spent in their accomplishment.

"Courtesy is not so easy to find. In a 10-minute interview as appearance and speech, yet many applicants are rejected, because even in this short time, they give the impression to the interviewer that if faced with a slightly difficult customer, they would probably be discourteous and do nothing to further our never-ending struggle to create public good will."

I wonder how often we, as individuals in personal life, are rejected because of a lack of courtesy, rejected by those we would like to have for friends!

Another question:

"Which make the best saleslerks, unmarried women, childless women or mothers?"

Answer: "You really cannot say, dogmatically, that one class is better than another. As a group, the unmarried woman would probably be best choice since they do not have so many individual adjustments or home responsibilities. However, the young, unmarried women who are marking time until they marry, could do an excellent job but only for a short time.

Inside Hollywood

By Bob Thomas

HOLLYWOOD, (AP)—In more ways than one, George Raft is the screen's most retiring star. Here's his admission:

1. "I'm going to retire to a house in the south of France and give up Hollywood unless a particularly good role comes along."

2. "I've based my whole career on playing quiet tough guys. The real tough guys are gentlemanly and quiet. It's the gaudy type you don't have to worry about."

QUIET LIFE

This retirement talk of the noiseless Raft is something we've got to get used to. He keeps bringing it up, but then studios keep announcing pictures for him. However, he now declares that after he finishes his current "Hounded," he'll head for the quiet life in southern France.

Oh, yes—he'll also produce and act in a picture over there. It's called "Incident in Cairo" and he plans to film it in Cairo, Tunisia and France. It will be done first-class, he said.

Raft's retirement talk stems from his philosophy. Said he: "I'm a sentimental guy. People say of an old actor, 'He was once a big star.' I don't want to have that happen to me. I went through it once as a dancer. It hurts."

He figures he can live cheaply in France. "I wouldn't have to buy

Success Depends On Correct Play

By William E. McKenney

There are a great many people to whom I would like to extend my best wishes during the Christmas holidays. A very happy and prosperous New Year to Mrs. Leon Radler, of New York City, for her wonderful volunteer work for the children's unit at Memorial Hospital. She devotes many hours every week for the benefit of the children there.

Mrs. Radler is not the bridge-playing member of her family. Her husband, Leon, plays a good game of rubber bridge. Many tournament players might miss today's hand, but when Leon made the right play, he said that a good rubber bridge player never should miss it.

He won the opening lead of the five of spades with the ace. He could count three spade tricks, four diamonds, and a club—eight tricks. How should he play for the ninth?

I am sure that a good many players would make the mistake of leading a club and finessing the ten, figuring that no great harm could be done, as they could come back and finesse the club again. They would not stop to consider that the king-jack-nine of clubs could lay over the queen-ten.

Needing only one more trick, Leon decided to establish a heart trick and laid down the king of hearts. West won and came back with a spade which was won in dummy with the king. Now he led a heart to his jack, and when West won with the queen and returned the third round of spades, Leon won with the ace. He had his nine tricks now, without bothering to take a club finesse.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Selfish Father Refuses Pleasures to Daughter

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—When I was 16 years old my mother died, so I left school to keep house for my father. That was five years ago and I am still on the job.

My father is well off, but he insists that I do all the cooking, washing, ironing and mending.

I wouldn't mind that so much, but what gets me down is that he will not allow me to have any pleasure.

He will not permit me to go to dances or to the movies, and he will not let me entertain my friends at home.

What shall I do? Get married just to get away from home? Or shall I tell my father he will have to get a housekeeper, and go out and get myself a job?

Or can you say something that would make my father a little more lenient to me?

HEARTSICK.

Answer: I am afraid I can't say anything that would change your father's point of view because his attitude is inspired by jealousy, selfishness and obstinate stupidity, and these make him shut his eyes to the injustice he is doing you.

No doubt he loves you, but he isn't considering your happiness or welfare at all. It doesn't even occur to him that you are sacrificing your youth to him.

He does not want boys to come to see you because he is afraid you might fall in love with one of them and leave him, and that you would interfere with his comfort. Besides, you are cheaper and much more efficient than any servant he could hire.

PATHETIC SITUATION

I think there is no more pathetic situation in life than that of the girl in her early teens who, through her mother's death, is suddenly thrust into her mother's place and forced to assume duties and obligations that are not of her making.

I do not believe that any child is called upon to sacrifice his or her life to parents.

Undoubtedly children owe a great duty to their fathers and mothers, but it does not involve their giving up every chance of happiness to a father's or a mother's whim.

So I think that if your father refuses to let you go out with nice young men or let them come to see you in the proper way, you will be justified in leaving him to the tender mercies of a hired servant, while you get a job and work for an employer who does not consider that he has a right to tyranize over you.

But don't get married just to get away from home. That is jumping out of the frying pan into the fire, because very often husbands are just as bossy as fathers.

Bad sheets usually wear out first in the middle. That's because they get the most wear there and because tensile strength usually is greater on the outside edges.

So when your sheets show signs of centre wear, split them down the middle and sew them together again along the fromer outside edges. Finish off the new outside edges with a simple hem.

Strategic Cover-up

WARDROBE DIFFICULTIES caused by that "perfectly-good-but-too-short" dress can be overcome with the help of your imagination and an extra piece of complementary or matching material. Hand in hand with this is the fashionable trend of color combinations.

Dated Basic Frock Can Be Salvaged With Bit of Material Plus Ingenuity

There are nine chances out of 10 that the good, but dated, basic dress which still hangs in your closet can be salvaged.

Have you thought of dropping its length by adding a near-matching hem band or setting a yoke in below the waist? Either piece of patch-work strategy can be kept under cover with a glamorous tie-on overskirt.

Star-dust chiffon, which is as glamorous as the name implies, was used in this manner to transform the back-issue number (left) into the captivating ballerina dress (right).

All that was done to reclaim the good, but dated, dress of coppery satin was to strip off hip-drapery and to add a nearly matching hem band five inches in width. To hide the patchwork which salvaged this dress an ankle-length overskirt of beige-colored chiffon, lightly glitter-dusted with threads of gold and silver, was pleated on to a waist-band cummerbund sash (inset).

Only four yards of 40-inch wide chiffon were required to make this skirt. Three yards which made three lengths went into the pleated skirt and one yard was used for making the bias-cut cummerbund sash, the ends of which are tucked in after it is tightly wrapped around the waist.

Bishop Tells Barbara Ann Costume Out

NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—(CP) — At the suggestion of Bishop Jefferson, of Ottawa, one of Barbara Ann Scott's costumes is being altered.

The Anglican bishop sent Barbara Ann a telegram this morning pointing out that the costume she wears for her "Ave Maria" number has a cross embroidered on it. He said in the wire that he felt Barbara Ann would not want to show any disrespect for her own religious beliefs.

Barbara Ann, a member of St. John's Anglican church in Ottawa, said today she agreed wholeheartedly with Bishop Jefferson.

"In fact," she added, "I only saw the costume for the first time last night and I requested then that the cross be removed."

The costume is a simple silver-cloth raiment lined with pink. On the net neckpiece was a hand-embroidered cross about three inches high, highlighted with rhinestones. In it she skates her own now well-known interpretation of Shubert's immortal "Ave Maria."

Right after the show, the costume was sent to the costumers to have the embroidery removed in time for the day's second show about 2½ hours later.

Church Women Elect Head

Mrs. A. B. Fitz Simon was elected president of Westminster United Church Women's Association at a recent meeting.

Mrs. C. E. Rogers is honorary president. She was presented with a pen and pencil set as a token of appreciation.

Other officers elected include Mrs. T. Shirray, first vice-president; Mrs. M. Emslie, second vice-president; Mrs. L. Dominey, secretary; Mrs. A. E. Spence, treasurer; Mrs. D. Keating, devotional secretary; Mrs. L. Saunders, pianist; Mrs. D. L. Anderson, flower fund convener; Mrs. A. B. Dahl, apron convener; Mrs. T. E. Guest, fancy work convener; Mrs. J. Harvie, wool convener; Mrs. A. W. Strachan, Mrs. D. L. Anderson, Mrs. A. J. Homer and Mrs. G. J. White, visiting committee; Mrs. Keating, Mrs. J. L. Anderson and Mrs. Guest, nominating committee; Mrs. R. Sielck and Mrs. Keating, auditors.

Money was voted for the building fund.

Hostesses for January are Mrs. J. Gouthro and Mrs. G. H. Ryan.

Following the meeting, a Christmas party was held. Mrs. Keating and Mrs. C. H. Perry served the lunch.

Remarriage Subject Of Controversy

LONDON, Dec. 21.—(AP)—The question of remarriage in church of divorced persons has stirred up a controversy among British churchmen.

The Bishop of Bradford, Dr. A. W. F. Blunt, declared at the Bradford (Yorkshire) diocesan conference:

"People who wish to remarry should go to a register office or to a non-conformist chapel where there seems to be very little principle in these matters."

Several hours later the bishop asked, through the press association, that the statement be deleted from reports of his address. He said it had been made "on the spur of the moment" and he did not want it published. The statement was printed, however, in London newspapers.

The next day Bishop Blunt's words brought replies. Rev. E. Benson Perkins, president of the Methodist conference, said:

"Any implication that the Methodist church thinks less highly of the sanctity of the marriage service than others is erroneous. A Methodist minister, asked to remarry a party in a divorce case, must consult the chairman of the district before any arrangements are made.

"Actually, Methodist ministers are sometimes asked by Anglican clergymen to perform marriage services which they are precluded from doing, but such requests are only met after most careful consideration."

A reply to Bishop Blunt was also issued by the Congregational Union of England and Wales. It said it would be unfortunate if the bishop's statement were taken to mean that the "free" churches remarried divorced persons indiscriminately.

There are approximately 60,000 full-blooded aborigines in Australia.

Hayward's Give Party To 125 Children

Traditional Christmas decorations formed a seasonal setting in the IOOF hall when G. E. Hayward entertained at a Christmas party for the children of the employes of Hayward's Lumber Co. Ltd.

One hundred and twenty-five children were present to receive a gift from Santa Claus, who was rushed to the scene in a lumber wagon.

Jack Unwin was master of ceremonies and Christmas carols were sung with Harry Cuthbert at the piano. Highlight of the entertainment was an original Punch and Judy show presented by Les Pilcher.

Social convener, Miss Gwen Morgan, was in charge of refreshments. She was assisted by Miss Grace Gourlay, Miss Kay Franczak, Vonley Hawkes and Marcel Tetamente.

In addition to a gift from Santa Claus each child received ice cream and cake and a bag of candy.

Mr. Hayward spoke to the children on the spirit of Christmas giving and was presented with a gift on behalf of the employes.

Club Members Hold Holiday Party For Their Little Ones

Candy, cookies and gifts pleased 38 children recently when the Overseas Wives' Club held a Christmas party for their little ones.

The party was held at the YWCA where Santa Claus visited with his pack full of goodies.

While the children were playing games, mothers presented Mrs. Frank Carter with a gift of candlewick glassware. Mrs. Carter expects to leave Edmonton shortly to join her husband in Mayerthorpe, where they will make their new home.

Mrs. H. Reeve, president, spoke of the excellent work Mrs. Carter had contributed to the club and wished her every success in her new home, on behalf of the club.

When handkerchiefs are stacked together in a drawer, and easy way to tell your best from your everyday hankies is to fold the fabric squares into different shapes. As you iron your finest linen or lace handkerchiefs, for example, fold them into triangles; everyday hankies may be folded into squares.

Rhodes Scholar Takes Bride In Home Wedding

The home of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Austin was decorated with yellow chrysanthemums Thursday at 6 p.m. for the candlelight wedding of their daughter, Doris, to Stanley Robert Mealing, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Mealing of Clyde.

Mr. Mealing is the 1948 Rhodes scholar from the University of Alberta.

Rev. E. J. Heuer performed the ceremony at which the bride was given in marriage by her father.

The bride chose a biscuit-colored woollen suit with which she wore brown accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Miss Glee Engel was bridesmaid. She was in smoke grey and wore burgundy accessories with a corsage of rose carnations.

William Rodney was best man.

A reception was held at the Corona hotel where a tiered wedding cake centred the bride's table which was decorated with yellow chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Austin chose for her daughter's wedding a black dress complemented with a biscuit-colored hat and tangerine accessories. Her corsage was yellow baby chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Mealing, mother of the bridegroom, wore a grey dress and hat with a corsage of yellow baby chrysanthemums.

Bulletin's Year-End Review By Eric Bland

VICTORY SMILE of Premier Ernest Manning of Alberta was flashed in The Bulletin office on night of August 17 when his Social Credit government swept to power in provincial elections.

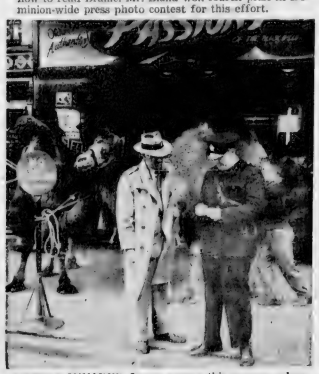
MAJESTIC BEAUTY of Edmonton's Macdonald hotel will be further enhanced when Canadian National Railways, after a heavy campaign by Edmonton Bulletin, Chamber of Commerce, and Mayor Harry Ainlay, proceed with proposed extension which will add another 200 rooms to city's hotel accommodation. With construction on the extension due to start here next spring, Edmonton's leading citizens are pressing for another 100 rooms to be added to proposed extension in order to give city one of finest hotels in western Canada.

CHERISHED TROPHY signifying supremacy in amateur hockey in Canada was brought to Edmonton last season by Coach Frank Currie and his hustling Flyers when they knocked off the pride of Canada's capital, Ottawa Senators.

PRIZE-WINNING PHOTO by Mr. Bland was taken early this year when he caught Mrs. A. J. Fisher, city, blind instructor, teaching little blind Sharron Groot how to read Braille. Mr. Bland won fourth prize in Dominion-wide press photo contest for this effort.

RAGING OIL FIRE which swept Atlantic's rogue well No. 3 early in September, kept Edmonton's leading oil experts on their toes for many days before fire was finally brought under control. Hundreds of thousands of gallons of oil and gas went up in flames as spectacular blaze reached high into the air to light up Edmonton's countryside for miles around. This spectacular view by Mr. Bland was syndicated throughout Canada and the U.S. and won high acclaim everywhere.

AND THEN OF COURSE there was Calgary with its Dominion championship football team which knocked off Ottawa Rough Riders in Toronto in November to bring further honor to Alberta in a banner year.



CAMELS INVADED Jasper avenue this summer when Black Hills famed Passion Play came to town for week-long run to capacity audiences. Here play manager Carl Fraser gets ticket for illegal parking of animals.

HEROIC RESCUE by Mrs. A. James of Thorsby of a young lad during drastic fire which swept the village early in December, sent the woman to hospital.

OIL BONANZA on outskirts of Edmonton was uncovered in July and August when Imperial Oil's discovery well, Redwater No. 1 boomed into production to establish a new and rich field. Recent sales in Redwater lands have brought record prices to Alberta's government and rivalling companies paid as high as $1,000,000 for a single quarter section.

EDMONTON BULLETIN'S loveliest mother, Mrs. Ann Anholt of Edmonton took off on a whirlwind week-long free trip to Hollywood as guest of the Bulletin and Capitol Theatre when she won competition early in September.

PROMINENT VISITOR to city in October was Lord Beaverbrook, Canadian-born British statesman-publisher who took time out to visit his native land, and catch up on some of the more obscure history of his home.

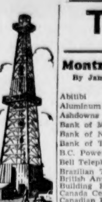
OIL



Consolidated Is Producing

Good news arrived during the holiday week-end, just in time for a late Christmas present, for shareholders of British American Oil Co. Ltd., Leduc Leaseholds Ltd., and Leduc Consolidated Oils Ltd.

British American and Leduc Leaseholds—at their first joint wildcat on lands southwest of the Leduc producing limits—have assured success in D2 zone.

Leduc Consolidated, re-drilling its one and only oil well which turned to water when Atlantic No. 3 blew wild, has tapped the D3 pay zone some 70 feet higher than in the original hole. This also assures success.

EARLIER FAILURES

BA-Leduc Leaseholds No. 1 is a success in an area where its chances were not considered to be good because of earlier failures in the district.

The well topped the D2 zone at 5,130 feet and drill stem test was made at the interval 5,149-5,180.

BA-Leduc Leaseholds own the full section on which their well is located, plus other rights to the west.

LOOKS BETTER

Leduc Consolidated's success, on the east edge of the D3 zone core of the Leduc field, now looks like it will be a much better and longer-lifed oil well than was the case when it first completed in September of 1947.

It topped the D3 at 5,358 feet.

By last April, it had produced 21,730 barrels of oil. Then suddenly, it turned to water—apparently due to the heavy withdrawals of gas and oil from Atlantic No. 3, five-eighths of a mile southwest, which blew wild early in March.

Santa Visits Christmas Party

Children of Edmonton Ex-Service Men's Home were guests of Master and Wardens' Association of the city Freemasons at a banquet and Christmas party held Thursday evening in the Masonic Temple.

Turkey, plum pudding and all the trimmings were served the children, and the party was climaxed with the arrival of Santa Claus, who distributed presents from a gaily decorated tree.

Former Prime Minister Sets British Record

By George Kitchen

OTTAWA, Dec. 27.—(CP)—Rt. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King reached the twilight of a historic political career in 1948.

On a bleak, drab November day the 74-year-old statesman drove through the capital's first snow to the governor-general's residence to tender his resignation as prime minister of Canada. He was succeeded by Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, 66, brilliant Quebec corporation lawyer who entered the cabinet in 1941.

With that last official act, Mr. King ended a Commonwealth record of 21 years, five months and five days in office. He had served longer than any other prime minister in Commonwealth history. He will sit in the next session of parliament, but only as a private member for the Ontario riding of Glengary.

TIME OF ILLNESS

Mr. King's retirement, though he had announced the intention as far back as 1945, came at a time of illness traced to the strain of leading the government through the turmoil of war and the uneasiness of the new peace.

His first step towards retirement was taken last January when he called upon the Liberal party to meet in national convention to choose a new leader. The convention opened in Ottawa Aug. 5 and two days later—on Aug. 7, the 29th anniversary of his own election to the leadership—Mr. King saw the delegates select Mr. St. Laurent, the man he was known to favor.

With the actual transfer of office only weeks away, the prime minister went overseas in mid-September to attend the Paris meetings of the United Nations and the later discussions of Commonwealth prime ministers.

He spoke before the UN, then journeyed to London where he was stricken with an ailment of the blood circulation and sent to bed for nearly four weeks. The attack may have stemmed from a heavy cold—bordering on pneumonia—which he suffered in March, 1947.

Weakened, but still on his feet, he returned to Ottawa early in November and a week later—on Nov. 15—tendered his resignation.

Through his many years in office, Mr. King established an international reputation as a statesman.

ROYAL TOUR

In 1939, he accompanied the King and the Queen on their tour of Canada. He was a personal friend of President Roosevelt and enjoys the friendship of his successor, President Truman. During the war, he worked on close and friendly terms with Winston Churchill, Britain's wartime prime minister.

Mr. King was born in Berlin (now Kitchener), Ont., Dec. 17, 1874. He took high honors at university and then worked as a reporter and a special writer on social conditions, an accomplishment which brought him in 1900 an invitation from Sir Wilfred Laurier to become deputy minister of labor. In 1908, he was appointed minister of labor, won a seat in the Commons and stepped actively into Canadian political life.

He went out of office with the Laurier government in the 1911 general elections. Sir Wilfrid died in 1919 and a convention was called that August. Mr. King, one of four candidates nominated, was chosen as Sir Wilfrid's successor. He carried the party to power in the 1921 election and became prime minister. He lost the office in 1925, regained it three months later, lost again to the Conservatives in 1930 but came back strongly in 1935 as prime minister once more. He held the prime ministership from then until his retirement.

SHE GETS AIR—BUT TOO MUCH

SUDBURY, Ont., Dec. 27.—(CP)—Anne Zettler fainted Christmas Eve when a fire broke out in a street car on which she was riding. While the motorman put out the fire, a group of nickel miners on the way home from work decided the woman needed air and pushed her through the tram window. When Miss Zettler regained consciousness in a snowdrift, she had a bruised hip and badly-scratched knees.

Countries Await Finding Of Body Of Jacques Cartier

PARIS, Dec. 27.—(CP)—Canada and France are awaiting the result of excavations in the ruins of the war-bombed cathedral of St. Malo, Brittany, where the remains of Jacques Cartier, French 16th century navigator who took possession of Canada for France, are believed to be interred.

Canon Julien Descottes, chairman of the St. Malo Society of History and Archaeology, announced recently that he had discovered documents which proved that Cartier had been buried in the cathedral in 1557 after dying of plague.

But Canon Descottes did not know the exact spot.

He thought that the body lay either under an altar to the Virgin, or in the central aisle, possibly under the very flag stone where Cartier knelt in prayer before sailing for Canada.

The tombs of several bishops and archbishops have already been found while the ruins of the cathedral were being cleared.

CAERPHILLY, Monmouthshire—(CP)—A Welsh National Art Gallery will be started at the National Eisteddfod here in 1950. Instead of giving prizes, best pictures entered will be bought by the Arts Council of Great Britain.

England Leads At Tea Time Score

JOHANNESBURG, Dec. 27.—(CP)—Len Hutton, 104 not out, and Cyril Washbrook, 127 not out, flogged South Africa's bowling in an unfinished opening stand of 238 for England by tea time today in the second test.

It was their highest opening partnership in tests, bettering their 168 against Australia in the fourth test at Leeds, England, last season.

Washbrook, who completed his first century in tests against South Africa in 192 minutes, was particularly severe against all types of bowling. At one point 85 runs were added in an hour.

A record crowd of nearly 40,000 watched the play.

VODKA TINGE TO EGG NOGS

MOSCOW, Dec. 27.—(AP)—The yultide drink for Moscow's foreign colony this year was vodka egg nog. Absence of whiskey in the Soviet capital led foreigners to invent this substitute for the traditional Christmas egg nog.

Taste? Just like a whiskey egg nog—but with a vodka flavor.

The year was 1866...

. . . the leaders in Canada's confederation movement met in London and argued a knotty problem: what to name the new nation. "Colony" fell far short of suiting the temper of Canadian thinking. It is recorded that Sir Leonard Tilley of New Brunswick finally pointed out the aptness of the biblical quotation:

"He shall have dominion also from sea to sea."

There is a lesson for every Canadian in this story from the past. By the very origin of the name, "Dominion" can never mean "domination." "Domination" would never be accepted by Canadians. But the Dominion of Canada is the Dominion of a free people . . . men and women who are privileged to express their will through the ballot box.

When YOU cast your secret ballot at every election—municipal, provincial, federal—you exercise a duty and privilege planned, worked, and fought for by your forefathers. Your vote protects the future of your children. To fail in this duty is to be less than a good citizen.
